Five guarantees: Siddu govt can mop up resources, say experts

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

ALL eyes are on the state budget to be presented by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on July 7 as his government has to make additional allocation to implement its five guarantees.

The state government needs about Rs 59,000 crore per annum to implement the promised guarantees.

Siddaramaiah held a meeting with top finance officials, including LK Atheeq and Ekroop Kaur, here on Tuesday where issues related to mobilisation of funds were discussed threadbare.

Former Additional Chief Secretary (Finance) ISN Prasad said the team from the finance department is still working out ways to mobilise resources to implement the guarantees. The CM is expected to make a decision soon.

BIG CONTRIBUTORS

- Commercial tax, stamps and registration, excise, transport
- GST: State's collection growth put at 20%
- Entertainment tax can be hiked to 50-60%

Speaking about the guarantees and the burden on the government, renowned economist and former member of the 14th Finance Commission Prof Govinda Rao said, "The issue is not as serious as it is made out to be. There are two ways to deal with it. First, the GST system is buoyant and the government will be able to generate substantial revenues, and added to this, there is the source of tax devolution, which is also higher. The other way of dealing with the issue is that there is half percent borrowing space available. For example, the fiscal deficit now is 2.5% and there is a chance or opportunity to borrow up to 3%. So, this is an additional cushion.

Asked if these were the only two options, he said, "Another way of dealing with severe revenue crunches is to sell or lease state's assets. For example, Karnataka has assets such as Mayura hotels which could be leased. Some prime properties could also be sold to overcome the revenue deficit."

VIRTUAL SUMMIT

SCO red card on using terror as state policy

Agrees to draw up unified list of barred terror outfits in grouping

NARENDRA MODI, PRIME MINISTER

Some countries use cross-border terrorism as an instrument of their policies, provide shelter to terrorists. The SCO should not hesitate to criticise such nations

XI JINPING, CHINESE PRESIDENT

We should make foreign policies independently. We must be vigilant against external attempts to foment a new Cold War or camp-based confrontation in our region

VLADIMIR PUTIN, RUSSIAN PRESIDENT

The share of the Ruble in export transactions with all the SCO countries exceeded 40% in 2022... We are making wider use of national currencies for mutual settlements

SHEHBAZ SHARIF, PAKISTAN PM

The hydra-headed monster of terror must be fought with full vigour... Any temptation to use it as a cudgel for diplomatic point-scoring must be avoided

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA'S imprint was apparent in a joint statement the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) issued on Tuesday after their virtual summit, as it said it was inadmissible for states to use terrorist and extremist groups for achieving their political and geopolitical objectives.

Describing terrorism as "criminal and unjustifiable", the SCO states also agreed to develop common principles and approaches to form a unified list of terrorist, separatist and extremist organisations whose activities are prohibited on the territories of the member nations of the grouping.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi set the tone for India's hardline on the matter earlier in the day, saying SCO nations must not hesitate to criticise countries supporting cross-border terrorism as an instrument of state policy. He added that there must not be any double standards in combating terror. While he did not mention Pakistan or China, the intent to call them out was clear.

With Iran on Tuesday becoming a full member of the SCO, Modi hoped it would improve connectivity within the grouping as its Chabahar port could be used for enhanced trading activity.

For his part, Chinese President Xi Jingping proposed the setting up of a SCO Development Bank and trade in local currencies. Quoting Rabindranath Tagore, he said, "The sea of danger, doubt and denial around man's little island of certainty challenges him to dare the unknown."

Russian President Vladimir Putin in his address said, "The Russian people are more consolidated than ever. The unity and high responsibility for the fate of the country was clearly demonstrated by the Russian political circles and the whole of society in uniting against the attempted armed rebellion."

He added that Russia's trade with SCO member states has increased by 37%, reaching a record high of $263 billion last year. From January to April this year, it went up by another 35%. The leaders signed the New Delhi Declaration and approved the SCO Economic Development Strategy to 2030, to promote regional integration, banking and finance, cooperation in energy, transport and digitisation.

India keeps the door shut on China's BRI project

India again refused to endorse China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI). It's the only SCO country not to support the project. A declaration issued at the end of the summit on Tuesday said Russia, Pakistan, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan reaffirmed their support to the BRI project

BJP appoints new chiefs for four states, six more on cards

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE BJP on Tuesday kickstarted key organisational changes ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections as it appointed new party chiefs in four states. Sources said the party will announce new presidents in six more party units, dropping hints that this will be followed by a Cabinet reshuffle.

Union minister G Kishan Reddy is the new BJP president in poll-bound Telangana, while D Purandeswari, Sunil Jakhar and Babulal Marandi will head party units in Andhra Pradesh, Punjab and Jharkhand, respectively. Reddy has also been made a member of the party's national executive committee.

According to sources, Reddy will quit as Union minister and incumbent BJP president in Telangana, Bandi Sanjay Kumar, will be inducted as a minister in the Cabinet reshuffle expected in the coming days.

Meanwhile, BJP sources said that the party will soon announce new presidents for five other states — Karnataka, Kerala, Gujarat, Haryana and Madhya Pradesh — and Union territory of Jammu and Kashmir.

Shobha Karandlaje or Aswath Narayan may be made the chief of the Karnataka unit, while V Muraleedharan could head Kerala. Mansukh Mandaviya or Parshottam Rupala could lead the party in Gujarat. In Haryana, it could be either Krishnapal Gujjar or Ram Vilas Sharma. Narendra Singh Tomar or Prahlad Patel may be appointed party chief in Madhya Pradesh. For Jammu and Kashmir, it could be either Jitendra Singh or Jugal Kishore Sharma, sources added.

'Appoint officer to probe sexual abuse of minor'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TAKING note of the shoddy probe by Koramangala police in a case of alleged sexual abuse of a four-year-old girl by her father, the Karnataka High Court directed the Bengaluru city police commissioner to appoint a new officer to conduct further investigation and submit a report within 10 weeks.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order while allowing a petition by the girl's mother questioning the order of the special court which dismissed her application seeking its directions for further investigation. The petitioner pointed out some lacunae in the probe.

Koramangala police filed a chargesheet after investigating the complaint filed by the girl's mother against her husband.

The girl's mother filed the complaint on August 24, 2022. Her husband was arrested on September 23, 2022 and produced before the court. But the police never sought custodial interrogation of the accused despite serious allegations against him.

The police filed the chargesheet after three weeks. Later, the accused was enlarged on bail.

Referring to this, the court said these dates indicated that the investigation was conducted in a hurry only to file a chargesheet before the court. The investigating officer, right from the beginning as stated by the girl's mother, appeared to have been partisan towards the accused. Therefore, it would not be safe for this court to order further investigation by the same officer.

Kuki leader's house torched in Manipur

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

MISCREANTS on Monday night set ablaze the house of an insurgent leader in Manipur, a day after he had played a key role in the lifting of a blockade enforced on National Highway 2 — the state's lifeline.

The arson attack was on the house of Dr Seilen Haokip, spokesperson of the Kuki National Organisation (KNO), in the hill district of Churachandpur. The KNO is a bunch of extremist groups that signed a suspension of operation (SoO) pact with the government.

There was nobody in the house at the time of the incident. Haokip told this newspaper the attack was carried out by miscreants, not a mob. The attack came just hours after he issued a clarification on why he helped lift the blockade.

Elsewhere in the state, an abortive attempt to loot weapons from an India Reserve Battalion at Khangabok in Thoubal district was made on Tuesday. A mob had laid roadblocks to prevent movement of reinforcements. However, additional columns of Assam Rifles and Rapid Action Force came in brought the situation under control. One rioter was killed while a few others were injured in the attack.

Flames rise from a fire at the Indian Consulate in San Francisco | PTI

Now, Khalistani radicals try to set on fire Indian mission in San Francisco

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

KHALISTANI miscreants tried to vandalise India's consulate in San Francisco by throwing a gasoline-soaked cloth ball that was set on fire. The arson attempt, the latest in the series of attacks against Indian missions in the US and Canada, drew strong condemnation from the US government.

"The US strongly condemns the reported vandalism and attempted arson against the Indian Consulate in San Francisco on Saturday. Vandalism or violence against diplomatic facilities or foreign diplomats in the US is a criminal offence," said US State Department spokesperson Matthew Miller.

The radicals also targeted the Indian Ambassador to the US, Taranjit Singh Sandhu, and Consular General in San Francisco, T V N Prasad, by released their photos on posters threatening to avenge the killing of Khalistan Tiger Force chief Hardeep Singh Nijjar. The protesters are planning a march on July 8 called 'Khalistan Freedom Rally.'

Taking note of the rising instances of tarteged attacks on Indian consulates, especially in the US and Canada, the Ministry of External Affairs on Monday summoned the Canadian High Commissioner, Cameron MacKay. The MEA expressed concerns about the protests outside the Indian High Commission in Ottawa, as well as the consulates in Toronto and Vancouver, scheduled on July 8.

Congress, BJP clash in both Houses

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Legislative Assembly and Council witnessed pandemonium on Tuesday as opposition BJP and ruling Congress members clashed over implementation of five guarantees. Both Houses were adjourned several times. BJP leaders also staged a protest against the government at Freedom Park in the city. Former chief minister BS Yediyurappa led the protest.

BJP members raised the issue of implementation of guarantees as soon as the Assembly session began and sought a discussion on it. Former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai appealed to Speaker UT Khader to allow a debate on the issue under the Adjournment Motion. When his request was turned down, the BJP members rushed to the well of the House, raising slogans against the government.

While BJP accused the government of failing to implement the promised guarantees, Shivakumar said BJP could not tolerate the success of the guarantees that have been implemented. Siddaramiah said all questions raised by the opposition will be answered.

Meanwhile, addressing BJP workers at Freedom Park, Yediyurappa said that his party will continue its fight till all guarantees are implemented without any conditions.

160 FLAT OWNERS LOSE OCCUPANCY PAPERS

Palike cites major violations by builder of Casa Grande Lorenza apartment complex

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

IN a shocking move, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike has withdrawn the occupancy certificates it had given to 160 flats of a luxury residential project in Yehalanka. Its order cited major violations by the builder and unsatisfactory response to its notice issued six months ago.

The order was issued by the Joint Director of BBMP (Town Planning) on July 1. Nearly 100 families are presently residing in the posh apartment -- Casa Grande Lorenza -- on Kogilu Main Road in Bellahalli comprising 2 BHK and 3 BHK houses.

Among the owners is Bagewadi Shashidhar, who blew the whistle on the violations committed by the builder Casa Grande Garden City Builder Private Limited last year. "I bought two flats here for Rs 1.3 crore in 2019, a 2BHK and a 3BHK. The project which began in 2017-2018 was to be completed by October 2020. The builder managed to get an occupancy certificate from BBMP on January 28, 2022," he told TNIE.

However, there were numerous violations. "There was a 40% deviation and a set back (open space from building to the plot) violation wherein the space was sold to those in the ground floors. The fire safety norms are not in place. The solar water heaters too have not been provided violating the bylaws laid down by the BBMP. The NoC from Karnataka State Pollution Control Board is not there and they have issued five show cause notices," said Shashidhar, an engineer.

The fire safety norms have not been complied with. Sewage treatment plants are malfunctioning and rainwater harvesting structures are not there, he added. "It is really risky for anyone to reside here and hence I decided to raise the red flag on the problems," the home buyer said.

BBMP had already issued a notice in January pointing out the violations. The builder was not able to give a satisfactory response, the order added.

EXPERTS LAUD DKS' IDEA OF TUNNEL ROADS

MOHAMMED YACOOB
@ Bengaluru

EXPERTS have lauded Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar's idea of building tunnel roads across the city to ease traffic congestion.

This comes a day after Shivakumar, who is also Bengaluru Development Minister, held a meeting with officials of various agencies, including international design agency AECOM India, on the feasibility of building tunnel roads in the city.

Experts from Indian Institute of Science (IISc) and Indian Road Congress and other agencies lauded the idea, but expressed their reservations over the expenses.

JM Chandra Kishen, professor, Department of Civil Engineering, IISc, said the tunnel work will not be noisy and with the latest technology available, it is easy to execute. Tunnel roads can connect inner and outer ring roads. He, however, cautioned that the project may be a bit expensive.

"The idea of tunnel roads is good, but it is only an alternative. The government should improve infrastructure in Tier 2 cities with easy access to airports and railway stations. This will reduce the burden on Bengaluru," Kishen said.

Member of Indian Road Congress D Prasad said, "The idea of tunnel road is good as it has worked in London and other top cities across the world. Tube, the underground road in London, is a successful project. However, safety should be given top priority. The tunnel should not get flooded like KR Circle underpass."

D Prasad, member, Indian Road Congress

"There should be a flawless underground drainage system. There should be diversion channels and high capacity pump-sets to pump water in case of floods. These pumps should automatically pump water during emergencies," Prasad said.

Officials from AECOM India, who presented designs of tunnel roads, explained their pros and cons to Shivakumar and MLAs from the city on Monday.

They said Shivakumar is not in favour of elevated flyovers as he thinks they will cause traffic jams and lead to chopping of trees.

DyCM seeks feasibility report

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CONTINUING his meeting with experts for the second day on Tuesday, Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar asked AECOM, the international agency dealing with infrastructure designs, to come up with a feasibility report on having tunnel roads to ease traffic congestion in the city.

Representatives of AECOM India were asked to give a presentation in the Karnataka Assembly during Zero Hour.

However, with BJP lawmakers staging a walk out, the meeting on tunnel roads was held at Shivakumar's office in Vidhana Soudha.

Officials from Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike, Bengaluru Development Authority and other agencies attended the meeting.

"The meeting continued for almost two hours. The minister spoke about de-congesting Bengaluru. He wanted a feasibility report on tunnel roads. Shivakumar and officials of various departments were impressed by the double-decker tunnel road concept, exclusive lanes for two-wheelers and other ideas," an official said.

Rapido's night checks for rider safety

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AFTER coming under criticism for sexual harrasment complaints by female riders, Rapido, a bike and auto taxi service provider, has introduced a new safety feature 'Night Rides Check'. Under this new initiative, all riders using Rapido between 10 pm till 6 am will get a call after completing the ride to check on their safety.

"Rapido places the safety of its riders on top priority. To address concerns during late-night travel, we have introduced the Night Rides Check feature in the app. Riders who utilize Rapido services between 10 pm and 6 am will receive a safety check call from the Rapido call center after completing their ride. The Night Rides Check serves as an additional safety measure, providing riders with peace of mind during their late-night journeys. This feature emphasizes Rapido's commitment to ensuring the security and well-being of its riders at all times," said Pavan Guntupalli, co-founder of Rapido.

Rapido on Monday also announced the launch of its initiative – Auto Dost -- aimed at providing support to local auto drivers. As part of Auto Dost, Rapido offers a range of benefits to its captains, including commission less than Rs 15 on every order, ensuring their earnings are maximized, unlimited cancellations with a cancellation amount of Rs 10, providing flexibility for captains in managing their rides and pickup charges of Rs 10 on every ride.

CHAOS AT METRO STATIONS AS SIGNAL SYSTEM FAILS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

COMPLETE chaos prevailed among Metro commuters using the Purple Line on Tuesday morning as trains faced massive delays till noon following a signal failure between Swami Vivekananda Road and Baiyappanahalli Metro stations. The signal failure was due to a new signalling system being installed for the upcoming KR Puram to Baiyappanahalli stretch slated for launch soon. It occurred at 5.40 am bringing train operations to a sudden halt.

"Since Baiyappanahalli is at the border of the upcoming stretch as well as the present operational Purple Line, it got impacted. The problem was set right by 12.08 pm. Services were affected along this stretch with trains made to run only at 20 kmph between Baiyappanahalli and SV Road," said a senior Metro official. BMRCL ran short loop trains between MG Road and Kempegowda Metro stations to clear the peak hour rush, he added.

Among those heading to work was B S Narahari, who regularly commutes from Vijayanagar Metro station to Cubbon Park Metro station. "When I reached the station in the morning, I found the platform crowded. I was told there was some signal problem when I made enquiries. Why has BMRCL not used their public address system inside trains and platforms to communicate to the public. Commuters were totally clueless," he told TNIE.

Commuters wait for train at Vijayanagar Metro Station on Tuesday | EXPRESS

Many took to social media to vent their ire and put out pictures on the massive crowds particularly at at Kempegowda Metro station where the lines converged. BMRCL CPRO put out a tweet on the issue from the official handle at 7.35 pm, two hours after the issue, saying: "Expect delays on Purple Line due to signalling issues. Staff are working to normalise. For kind info. Inconvenience regretted."

This invited much criticism. Many pointed out that not all commuters were on twitter to learn about the delay and demanded to know why the public were not intimated in advance. BMRCL was billed as "unprofessional" and "irresponsible" too. A few took offence that the tweet was only in English. Even the tweet on restoration of normalcy was put out only 4.5 hours after restoration of services.

Pooja K, a commuter, said she went to the Metro station and returned home. "Wasted an hour of peak time," she tweeted. Deepak, another commuter, tweeted, "Absolute chaos. The display, announcements and the actual Metro schedule are functioning in three different ways. No staff to guide. Peak hour mess by Namma Metro."

The finalisation of the tender could take anywhere between two and three months, said a source. ENS

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

05TH July : I mentioned the Moon again yesterday, my planet of the week. Actually, some people would jump on me for calling it a planet because strictly speaking a planet is a body which orbits a sun. On the other hand, in ancient terminology the sun was called a planet. Well, what's in a word? And does it matter? Answers later!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You may suddenly become aware of someone else's importance and role in your affairs. If you can possibly make headway in all partnership matters, especially if work is involved, you will do yourself a real favour. I know that it's not always easy, but you can do your best.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The fact that peaceful patterns are strong today makes little sense unless we remember that this is bound to enhance your Venusian qualities. Therefore, if peace is to be made or apologies offered, you should take the lead. There isn't really any other option.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You may wish to take a short journey, but this might not be such a good thing if you are running away from your responsib-ilities. Your judgment could be a mite too hasty at the moment, so take instant decisions by all means, but realise that you might be wrong!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The Sun is proceeding along its present path very nicely, and is almost at the end of its current journey, a symbolic indica-tion that plans should now be finalised and loose ends tied up. Only money still seems to be a source of concern or discontent.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Your planets are looking colourful and it seems that your judgment is very easily influenced by your imagination. This is wonderful if you're in the arts or otherwise engaged in creating a colourful impression, but otherwise you might like to take a little care.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The Moon aligns itself with a potent financial region of your horoscope, conveying the news that money matters need tighte-ning up. Maybe a romantic liaison could provide a useful diversion but, on a more serious note, you may be obliged to deal with some secret information.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Saturn, that supremely serious planet, is exerting a terribly responsible influence over your psyche at the moment, yet other indications suggest that if you wish to go completely wild, now is the time. In short, the choice between two extremes is yours.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
The long-term developments definitely look promising, even though as far as professional ambitions are concerned there are still risks. Tact-lessness is probably your major failing at the present time so, if you don't want to lose a valued friend, think before you speak!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Your current stars are quite lively, but the entire long-term drift in the style and nature of your chart is away from spontaneity and adven-ture towards seriousness and sobriety. However, even when responsibilities mushroom, you must not forget the need for experimentation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
A burden should have been lifted in recent days, and you should soon be feeling a great deal more positive. Today's lunar position should also enable you to be rather more direct about your ambitions, which is natu-rally a helpful indication for those of you pursuing professional goals.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Please don't expect partners to be diplomatic this week, or in any way sensitive to your feelings. But don't take offence either, for they are only trying to tell the truth. There may even be some very fascinating advice concealed in otherwise meaningless statements.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Just to get psychological for a moment, the sign of Virgo in your horoscope represents your 'shadow self', a sort of alter ego whose qualities you need to develop. It therefore follows that with Virgo an influences so strong at the moment, you should give the highest priority to routine responsibilities and day-to-day survival.

POST COVID, NIMHANS RECORDS HEAVY PATIENT FOOTFALL

Experts term it 'rebound'; Initiatives by hospital also created awareness

NAMRATA SINDWANI @Bengaluru

THE post-pandemic era has caused a rebound effect on patients with mental health disorders, with the National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences (Nimhans) recording the highest-ever patient footfall of 6.22 lakh in over a decade.

Dr Shashidhara HN, resident medical officer, Nimhans, told TNIE, "The Covid pandemic and multiple mental health initiatives of Nimhans resulted in a rise in patient footfall this year. It was like the rebound phenomenon, as many patients who could not seek help during the pandemic, came forward to access professional care. Initiatives like Tele-Manas, multiple helplines for addiction, mental health issues and Covid also created awareness across India, which added to the high patient footfall."

Nimhans is a tertiary-care centre catering to people not only from Karnataka, but other states too. The number of mental health patients rose not just in Nimhans but in other medical institutions too. Doctors said that treating a patient with mental illness is not the same as other illnesses, as each patient requires more time and specialised care. The number of mental health patients has increased over time, but the number of professionals has not increased parallelly, explained Dr Shivaram Varambally, department of psychiatry, Nimhans. While a general practitioner can consult around 50 patients daily, a mental health doctor can only see 10 patients. On an average, a doctor must spend at least 25-30 minutes during the first consultation with a mental health patient to understand their psyche. Instead, Indian doctors end up spending only 5-10 minutes, said experts.

Nimhans is also taking multiple measures to cater to rising patient footfall. The current outpatient department is over 35 years old and has served its purpose, Dr Shashidhar said. "We are planning to get approvals to set up a new OPD complex at an estimated cost of Rs 200 crore," he said. A new neurology and neurosurgery building has been started for inpatients. Nimhans has also created additional waiting areas post-pandemic, with a new resthouse for patients coming from far.

NCBS sets up Rohini Nilekani Centre for Brain and Mind

BENGALURU: The National Centre for Biological Sciences (NCBS) on Tuesday announced the launch of Rohini Nilekani Centre for Brain and Mind, a centre dedicated to advancing Indian research and practice pertaining to neuro-developmental disorders and mental health. The centre will focus on the long-term examination of environmental and genetic factors involved in brain development which underlie severe mental illnesses. It will support research through its partnership with the National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences (NIMHANS) and NCBS' therapeutic practices pertaining to five mental disorders -- schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, addiction, obsessive-compulsive disorder and dementia.

Hotelier refuses to pay hafta, attacked

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A 29-year-old hotelier was attacked by a criminal for refusing to give him hafta. The incident happened around 7pm on Sunday near NGEF Layout in Ramamurthynagar. The accused demanded money from the victim to let him run his business without any hassle. When the victim refused to give the money stating the business was dull, the accused attacked him with a knife and left the spot warning him to heed to his demand, failing which he will not allow him to run the business.

The victim, identified as V Sahanesh Reddy, is a resident of OMBR Layout in Doddabanaswadi and runs 'Grab and Go' restaurant in the East of NGEF Layout. The accused has been identified as Vicky of Banaswadi. In his complaint, Reddy stated that he was inside his hotel along with his friend David, when the accused barged in claiming to be a rowdy. "The accused ordered Reddy to give hafta on a daily basis if the business had to continue. He then attacked the victim with a knife and left the place threatening him with dire consequences. David then took Reddy to KR Puram Government Hospital for treatment," said an officer based on the complainant's statements.

The police have detained Vicky and are interrogating him. He is unemployed and intended to assert his dominance in the area.

"Reddy's friend, identified as Jai alias Jai Kumar, who is a professional sub-contractor, had to give money to Vicky. As Jai went incommunicado, the accused went in search of him near the victim's hotel. When Vicky asked Reddy about Jai, the latter did not give a satisfactory reply, following which an argument ensued. As the accused told Reddy to inform Jai to return his money, the latter mistook it for hafta," read Vicky's statements with the police. A case has been registered against the accused. Further investigations on.

Woman posts husband's affair on WA, kills self

BENGALURU: A woman died by suicide in Kengeri on Sunday, after posting details of her husband's affair on her WhatsApp status. Her mother filed a case of abetment to suicide against her son-in-law and his paramour. The victim, R Pavithra (35), a divorcee, had married Chetan Gowda (33). She later found out about his relationship. When Pavithra's mother Padmamma saw her daughter's status on Sunday, she rushed to her house to find her dead. "Pavithra was a manager in a finance firm owned by Gowda. She had divorced her first husband in 2019. After her marriage to Gowda, she found out about his affair. Gowda allegedly refused to stop seeing his girlfriend, which is suspected to be the reason behind the suicide," said an officer.

Freshers' party tiff led to student's murder, eight arrested

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE murder of 17-year-old EK Suhail near his college in Manjunathanagar was solved with the arrest of eight accused, including seven minors. Suhail, a II PU Commerce student residing on 9th cross of Mahaganapathinagar, was attacked on Monday around 2.30pm. He breathed his last around 4pm.

"Of the eight accused, only one is a major, 18-year-old Yogesh. On July 1, there was a freshers' party in the college. During the party, a fight broke out between the victim and one of the accused. The victim was upset after the accused stamped his feet while dancing. Suhail allegedly assaulted the accused and humiliated him in front of other students," said an officer who is part of the investigation. The accused then ganged up with some students from other colleges. They hatched a plot to kill Suhail. As July 2 was a Sunday and the college was closed, they decided to carry out the plan on Monday. That afternoon, they waited outside the college for Suhail to leave. When he came out, two bike-borne assailants attacked him just 50 metres from the college, and fled the scene.

"The fight during the freshers' party in college resulted in the murder. The accused hatched a plot and attacked the victim outside the college," Laxman Nimbargi, DCP (West) told the media. Yogesh was remanded in judicial custody while the other seven minors were sent to a state boys' home.

Basaveshwara Nagar police registered a case of murder.

Implement guarantees without conditions: BJP to state govt

BSY leads protest at Freedom Park; Youth Cong demonstration outside BJP office today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

OPPOSITION BJP leaders, including legislators, staged a protest demonstration demanding that the state government implement its guarantees as promised, without any conditions. The day-long 'satyagraha' at Freedom Park in Bengaluru, was led by former chief minister BS Yediyurappa.

Yediyurappa said the fight will continue till the state government implements all five guarantees, as promised by the Congress leaders in the run-up to the May 10 Assembly polls. The former CM said he will tour all the districts of the state and expose the government's failure to implement the guarantees.

He said the state government must give 10 kg of rice as promised, along with 5 kg given by the Centre. The financial assistance for unemployed graduates and diploma-holders, women heads of the households, and 200 units of free power should be provided to all without any conditions, he said. He warned the government against repealing the anti-cow slaughter law and appealed to the party workers to prepare to fight against the anti-people policies of the state government.

BJP state president Nalin Kumar Kateel said that in the run-up to the polls, the Congress leaders had distributed guarantee cards, but after coming to power, they are not fulfilling those promises.

They had promised to implement all guarantees within 24 hours of coming to power, but have not done it even now, Kateel said.

BJP state general secretary and MLC N Ravi Kumar said the government must implement the guarantees without conditions, and the BJP will continue its fight till the government implements all five guarantees.

Meanwhile, members of the Youth Congress have decided to stage a demonstration outside the BJP state office in Bengaluru on Wednesday afternoon, to protest against the Centre's refusal to provide rice to the 'Anna Bhagya' scheme.

CONG'S PROMISES

Council adjourned as BJP seeks discussion

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Legislative Council was adjourned without any discussions on Tuesday, as the Opposition BJP was firm that they should be allowed to take up a debate on the failure of the Congress government in implementing the five guarantees.

As soon as proceedings started in the morning, BJP MLC and former minister Kota Shrinivas Poojari asked the Chairman to allow discussion on the failure of the government in implementing the guarantees and setting terms and conditions in the implemented schemes. But minister Krishna Byregowda said there is a procedure that has to be followed and discussions can be allowed only after the Question and Answer and Zero Hour. Even the Chairman insisted the same and the BJP members entered the well of the House, demanding the Chairman to allow for discussion.

The Congress members attacked their BJP counterparts, saying they had decided not to allow the proceedings smoothly and took a jibe at them for not appointing an opposition leader even 50 days after the election results.

This created pandemonium in the House as the ruling and opposition members engaged in verbal attacks against each other, forcing the Chairman to adjourn the proceedings for a while. The BJP continued the protest even after the House was reconvened, the proceedings were adjourned again. As the same continued even in the afternoon, the Council was adjourned till Wednesday, after tabling the secretary's report and 12 Bills passed in the previous session and approved by the Governor, amid the din

BJP gathers MLAs' opinions to name LoP, state unit prez

CHETAN MG @ Bengaluru

UNION Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya and former Maharashtra minister Vinod Tawde, who were appointed BJP's central observers to pick the Leader of Opposition (LoP) and chief of the party's state unit, gathered the opinion of BJP MLAs and core committee members on Tuesday. It is likely that the BJP central leadership may announce names for the two posts in a day or two.

The observers held a marathon one-on-one meeting with several MLAs and core committee members before leaving for Delhi, where they will submit their report to party national president JP Nadda. Party sources said Nadda will deliberate with the party's central leadership, following which the announcement will be made on Wednesday or Thursday.

Sources revealed that former Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and former minister and Karkala MLA Sunil Kumar were the frontrunners for the post of Opposition leader. Meanwhile, it is said that former minister Kota Shrinivas Poojari is likely to be the LoP in the Upper House. While the state presidents of Telangana, Punjab, Jharkhand and Andhra Pradesh were announced on Tuesday, central observers also gathered the opinion of state leaders on appointing the chief of the state unit, as incumbent president Nalin Kumar Kateel's tenure ended before the polls, and was extended. While names of many leaders are doing the rounds for the state president's post, the central leadership is trying to strike a balance on the caste front, while making the two appointments.

BJP MLC and state general secretary N Ravikumar said the observers have collected opinions, and an official announcement of names for the two posts will be made soon in Delhi. Former CM and MP DV Sadananda Gowda said he had told the observers of the need to appoint an able opposition leader.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IN a clear indication of Opposition parties BJP and Janata Dal (Secular) joining hands to take on the Congress government on the issue of corruption, the BJP on Tuesday extended its support to the regional party leader's "cash for posting" allegations against the state government.

Senior BJP leader and former chief minister BS Yediyurappa said the BJP supports JDS leader and former CM HD Kumaraswamy's corruption allegations against the Siddaramaiah government. Kumaraswamy had accused that an official in the Chief Minister's Office had allegedly demanded Rs 30 lakh from an official, who went with an MLA's recommendation letter for a posting.

Yediyurappa said Kumaraswamy would have made the allegations with all the information and they will fully support his fight against the government.

Meanwhile, Kumaraswamy went on the offensive daring the government, whether it will act against the minister concerned if he provides evidence to back his allegations. "I will provide the evidence to all the ministers who are asking for it. Can you sack the minister concerned?" he questioned. The JDS leader also asked Congress leaders what evidence they had produced before the people when they had made allegations against the BJP government.

Congress leaders hit back at the former CM by rubbishing the allegations made by him. "There is no corruption and the allegations are far from the truth. If they have any documents, let them hand it over to the Lokayukta," said Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar. He is making allegations as he is upset with his party's performance in the Assembly elections and they don't have to worry about his allegations, the DyCM said.

Home Minister G Parameshwara said if there is any specific case, let Kumaraswamy take up the issue in the Assembly.

Ruckus reigns: BJP members jump into well, Speaker adjourns House

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MEMBERS of the Opposition BJP created a ruckus in the Assembly on Tuesday, as they demanded that the Congress-led state government implement the guarantee schemes it promised in the manifesto. Speaker UT Khader had to adjourn the House a few times.

BJP members who raised the issue in the beginning, came into the well of the House, stalling the proceedings. They were seen raising slogans against the government and Congress leaders. The House was adjourned a couple of times by the Speaker, who could not bring order in the Assembly.

It all started when Arsikere Congress MLA KM Shivalingegowda's name was called by the Speaker during the Question Hour, but then former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai got up appealing to Khader to allow them to take up discussion under the adjournment motion, which was declined. Irked, BJP members created a ruckus and even demanded the Speaker to suspend the Question Hour, which the House has done earlier. Meanwhile, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar stood up and stated that the Opposition members were unable to soak in the success of the ruling party in implementing the guarantee schemes, and even told them to sit down. However, the BJP leaders continued to raise slogans against the government.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah then said that when he was the Leader of Opposition, his appeals to move adjournment motion was denied. "We are not going to run away from here and we will answer all your questions," he said.

Slogans raised

Asking the BJP leaders not to be stubborn, the CM sought that the House proceedings be allowed to run smoothly. Upset, BJP members came into the well of the House, and were seen clapping and raising slogans against the guarantee schemes, the state government itself, the CM, Deputy CM, and even the Speaker. They alleged that the Congress had cheated everyone in the state - the poor, women, and even their own members. Despite repeated pleas from Speaker Khader, BJP members continued to raise slogans. Former deputy CM R Ashoka said that until the state government implements its guarantees, it lacks the moral right to conduct the session. Even in the afternoon session, members of the BJP continued to protest. The proceedings were conducted amid this din.

Legislative session to extend till July 21

The Business Advisory Committee (BAC) on Tuesday has decided to extend the ongoing Legislative session till July 21, said Assembly Speaker UT Khader. Earlier, it was decided to hold Legislative sessions till July 14. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah will present the state budget on July 7. After the BAC meeting, Khader told reporters that he will allow members to discuss the Governor's address to the joint session for two days, from July 4. On July 5, they are going to table a few bills and the CM will respond to the debate on the Governor's address the following day. On July 7, the CM will present the budget for 2022-23. From July 10-19, discussion on the budget will take place, including department-wise discussions, while on July 21, the CM will respond to the debate and the Finance Bill will be passed.

Suspended Congress leaders offer 'harake' at Majjaru Kshetra on Tuesday | EXPRESS

Suspended Cong leaders dare Sullia candidate to truth test

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

CONGRESS leaders from Sullia constituency in Dakshina Kannada, who have been suspended for alleged anti-party activities during the Assembly election, have sought divine intervention and dared G Krishnappa, who was the Congress candidate from Sullia, to come for a truth test and prove his allegations against them at Majjaru Rajan Daiva at Kodimbala in Kadaba taluk.

Balakrishna Balleri, Sudhir Devadiga, Usha Anchan, and Asha Laxman of the Kadaba unit of the Congress visited Majjaru Kshetra on Tuesday and made an offering (harake).

On the occasion, they claimed that they were suspended from the party, citing anti-party activities. "But we have not indulged in any anti-party activities. We have been suspended due to pressure from G Krishnappa. Let Krishnappa take a vow here at the 'Daivasthana' against us. Krishnappa himself has defeated the Congress in the Assembly elections, and we have been blamed. We supported ticket aspirant Nandakumar... and isn't he a Congress leader? Why can't we support him? Just because we have supported Nandakumar, we have been suspended. We have worked hard to strengthen the party in Kadaba. God will ensure we get justice," they stated.

'Have met target for first quarter'

ECONOMIST Prof RS Deshpande said, "This is a critical time budget. The economy is okay now. But the government has these commitments. Now, there are five guarantees and I am for them. The finance management shouldn't create unnecessary deficits or debts. One solution could be to step up revenue mobilisation through increasing stamps and registration fees and entertainment tax. The entertainment tax in the state is 30% and this could be increased to about 50 or 60% like in other states."

He said another source of revenue collection could be from the real estate sector.

On GST collection, Commercial Tax State Commissioner C Shikha said, "We have met the target given to us for GST collection in the first quarter. There is a growth rate of about 20% compared to the same quarter last year. This is due to good compliance by taxpayers and actions taken by the government."

She said various measures have been taken to ramp up commercial tax collection and additional revenue mobilisation.

WHO ex-chief scientist for nutrition literacy in schools

STATING that agricultural programmes and investment can strengthen impact on nutrition if explicit nutrition objectives and indicators are incorporated into their design, former WHO chief scientist Dr Soumya Swaminathan said there is a need to assess the context at the local level to design appropriate activities to address the types and causes of malnutrition.

She was speaking after inaugurating a session on the topic 'Woman SHG, Farmer-Entrepreneurship' held as part of 'One week, one lab -- Celebrating food research', a conference organised by CSIR-CFTRI in Mysuru on Tuesday.

Former WHO chief scientist Dr Soumya Swaminathan | EXPRESS

She said there is a need to develop new technologies, techniques and strategies that are rooted in the 'One health action' agriculture concept specific to different agro-ecological zones, and foster integrated policies and programmes through cross-sectoral contributions among agriculture, health and climate change sectors," she said.

"The five high-priority strategic components of 'One health one action' agriculture concept is an integrated intensive farming system for nutrition, conservation farming, soil health rejuvenation, zoonotic disease surveillance and safe water and sanitation," she said.

She said nutritional awareness improves food consumption, and explained that the farming system for nutrition (FSN) intervention integrates crop, livestock and allied agricultural practices and nutrition literacy as a package, providing a holistic approach.

She added that to improve nutrition through agriculture and the food system, one need to improve processing, storage and preservation and expand markets, market access for vulnerable groups, particularly for marketing nutritious foods, besides nutrition promotion and education.

Senthil Balaji case: Madras HC delivers split verdict

Minister to remain in custody unless decided otherwise, clarifies SC

R SIVAKUMAR & SHRUTI KAKKAR
@ Chennai/ NewDelhi

THE Madras High Court on Tuesday delivered a split verdict on the legality of the arrest of Tamil Nadu Minister V Senthil Balaji by the ED under Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) and his subsequent judicial custody and directed the HC registry to place the matter before the HC Chief Justice for referring it to a third judge.

Later in the day, a Supreme Court bench of Justices Surya Kant and Dipankar Datta turned down the ED's request to directly consider the issue of legality of the arrest and urged the Chief Justice of the Madras HC to refer the matter to a bench comprising three judges "as early as possible."

In the brief hearing in the apex court on Tuesday, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, said, "Ultimately this is a question of law to be heard by this court. Everyday there would be possibility of tampering the evidence since he is in hospital. Instead of going to the third judge, the matter can be heard by this court. Influential person is the accused and the damaged time is irreversible." Senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for the minister, however, said, "How can the HC be surpassed like this? How can this be brought here? Next date it was listed and under what circumstances can it be brought to this court?" Hearing the arguments, the SC bench clarified that the minister would remain in custody "unless otherwise decided" since the court had rejected his prayer for interim bail.

While Justice J Nisha Banu, presiding judge of the two-judge Madras HC bench, held the arrest and judicial custody to be illegal and ordered the minister's release forthwith, co-judge Justice D Bharatha Chakravarthy held that there are no illegalities in the arrest procedure and judicial remand.

The conflicting order was pronounced on a habeas corpus petition (HCP) filed by Megala, wife of Senthil Balaji.

Ruling that the petition is maintainable, Justice Nisha Banu held the ED is not entrusted with the powers to seek police custody under PMLA. Dismissing the petition of ED to exclude the hospitalisation period from the judicial custody period, she ordered the detenue 'to be set at liberty forthwith'.

The judge said when the HC bench specifically ordered that the detenu shall continue in judicial custody, the ED pressed for police custody and the principal sessions judge (PSJ) proceed to award such custody for eight days.

"Whether this omission/commission happened by oversight or was conscious pales into insignificance as judicial discipline demands that the order awarding police custody ought not to have been passed," she said.

Saying that ED is not entitled to custodial interrogation of the accused under PMLA, the order of PSJ "is without jurisdiction and without authority of law and therefore is illegal." "The order fails the test of legality both of law and omission to follow judicial discipline and I have no hesitation to hold that the detention at the time of hearing the habeas corpus petition is illegal," Justice Banu said.

9 PIECES OF EVIDENCE IGNORED: COURT

THE court pointed out that nine vital pieces of evidence have been deliberately ignored by the investigating officer.

The girl's mother alleged that her husband was addicted to watching porn involving children. He used to make the child stand naked, get himself undressed and bathe with her by touching her private parts. The accused used to force his wife to have sex with him in the presence of their child. When she resisted, he used to abuse and beat her up. The accused also took the child to Mangaluru for a trip and indulged in similar acts. He also clicked pictures of the child.

The girl's mother further alleged that after returning from the trip, the child started behaving differently. The child used to stare at the private parts of others and would insist that her mother take her photos when she was bathing.

RTC staffers can apply for inter-corporation transfer till Aug 18

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EMPLOYEES of Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC), Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC), Kalyana Karnataka Road Transport Corporation (KKRTC) and North Western Karnataka Road Transport Corporation (NWKRTC) can submit applications for transfer from one bus corporation to another. The applications will be accepted from July 5 till August 18. Only those employees in Grade-3 non-supervisory posts and Grade-4 employees can apply for general and mutual transfer, said a press release from KSRTC on Tuesday.

After repeated requests from the RTC Employees' Union, the government approved one-time inter-corporation transfers in 2016, and then on, has been allowing employees to get transferred from one bus corporation to another, a source from the corporation said.

During the transfer, 5 per cent reservation will be provided for employees with more than 40 per cent disability, and those with severe illnesses like HIV, heart disease, cancer, and diseases related to the spinal cord, kidney and brain.

OFFICIAL LAUDS STAFF FOR SHAKTI

KSRTC MD Anbu Kumar has written an open letter to all the staffers of the bus corporation, and thanked them wholeheartedly for making the Shakti scheme a success, despite the staff shortage and fleet remaining the same. "On busy days, especially from Friday to Sunday, on days of festivals and fairs, employees have increased the number of trips and worked hard. Except for one or two untoward incidents, all employees have carried out their duty diligently to make Shakti scheme a big success," said Anbu Kumar.

Uttara Kannada dist sees only 53% rainfall

KARWAR: Delay in monsoon resulted in scarcity of water in Uttara Kannada, with the district receiving only 53% rainfall. The rain began in the first week of July, after a delay by more than a month. Farmers were hit hard as water shortage delayed cultivation too. "Our major regions of cultivation are Mundgod, Haliyal and Sirsi to some extent. Only 40% of cultivation has been done," said TH Natraj, Deputy Director, Department of Agriculture. He said paddy cultivation has been badly hit. "Normally, farmers in Mundgod and Haliyal cultivate paddy by tilling the fields. Now, they are sowing the seeds which is water-intensive," he added. ENS

Month after killing live-in partner, accused picked up from Assam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

JB Nagar police finally arrested the 29-year-old ed-tech firm employee who had escaped after killing his former live-in partner at her flat in Kodihalli.

The accused, Gurijala Arpith, an engineering graduate, was arrested in the Northeast part of the country. Four teams formed to arrest the accused found him moving in Assam and other nearby areas.

One team arrested the accused on Monday and brought him to the city. The accused is from Delhi while the victim was from Hyderabad. The two were in a relationship for the past two years, and later broke up.

The body of Akanksha Bidyasar, 23, was found on June 5. Arpith had smothered her to death and made a futile attempt to make it look like a case of suicide. He had tried to lift the body and hang it with a veil from the ceiling fan, but was unable to lift the body.

The incident came to light after the victim's roommate returned from work. JB Nagar police registered a case of murder. Police initially thought it must be a case of unnatural death, however, clues at the scene of crime confirmed it to be a case of murder.

The two reportedly first met at their workplace in the city, and moved in together. She later joined another company and was working in the sales department.

Arpith, who was promoted, started working in Hyderabad. Akanksha moved in with a friend and was staying in a flat in Kodihalli in JB Nagar area. The accused would come to the city to meet her. They would often fight, and had also decided to part ways.

On the day of the murder, Arpith and Akanksha went to her flat. After some time, CCTV footage visuals showed the accused going out alone of the flat. Investigations are on.

INDIA LAGGING IN EV ADOPTION, TIME FOR REALITY CHECK

Despite being the third-largest auto market and several incentives dished out by New Delhi and state governments, India remains a laggard in electric vehicles (EV). The country is a ripe target for EV makers but is slow to catch up with other markets, according to a recent report by S&P Global Ratings. Domestic sales of EVs have more than doubled, but they barely represent 2% of the total light-vehicle sales in the last 12 months. A couple of domestic auto majors have lined up plans for EV launches, but India has yet to make its presence felt in the international market with powerful EVs. On the other hand, we are also lagging in related segments such as battery manufacturing and charging infrastructure.

New Delhi has reiterated its support for the sector and proposed several reforms to enhance the market penetration of EVs in the country. Schemes such as the FAME India (Faster Adoption and Manufacturing of EVs) initiative, tax reduction, and production-linked incentives aim to roll out the red carpet for the EV industry. Launched in 2015 by the Centre, the FAME India initiative was meant to reduce the usage of gasoline and diesel automobiles. It also aims to incentivise e-vehicles.

Maharashtra was among the first to unveil a comprehensive EV Policy in 2021, which was primarily aimed at accelerating the adoption of EVs and setting up manufacturing and charging infrastructure in the state. Its target for EVs to contribute 10% of new vehicle registrations by 2025 looks far-fetched. This is despite Maharashtra accounting for a one-third share of four-wheeler EV sales and 17% of electric two-wheelers sold in India. Early this week, the Tamil Nadu power generation and distribution arm announced a 50% reduction in energy charges (from ₹12 to ₹6 per unit) for EV charging stations, effective from July 1. It has also dropped fixed charges from ₹300 to ₹75.

For sustainable transportation, especially in cities, EVs will be the best option. But the fact is buyers are yet to switch over to EVs, despite the high oil prices. E-vehicles' high price tags and the yet-to-be-established charging infrastructure network act as deterrents. The development of adequate charging infrastructure will be vital to EV adoption. Fleet aggregators should also be encouraged to operate EVs across India. But right now, it is time to pause and do a reality check on our transition so far.

PLASTIC-FREE MATTER OF DUTY, NOT CHOICE

Another International Plastic Bag Free Day went unnoticed, and the ubiquitous plastic bag remains a convenience and a menace. The day serves to remind people to reduce their dependence on plastics, but appears to have had little impact on their collective consciousness. Plastic pollution is a burning global issue proliferating the earth, from the mountains and forests to rivers, beaches and oceans, killing marine life, wild animals and domesticated cattle. It is said that plastic bags kill about one lakh animals annually. Pollution starts with the smallest unit, the plastic bag, which local vendors use. The trend of online ordering of goods and food now compounds its use. Each household contributes its mite to the growing plastic mountain.

The ill effects of plastic impact many aspects of human life, primarily health, leading to asthma, obesity and cancer. Plastic production releases harmful chemicals which affect the lungs, heart and kidneys, especially of children. Plastic chokes drainage systems in cities and has led to flooding, with Mumbai's infamous floods of 2005 being a prime example. The recent underpass flooding in Bengaluru which claimed a young life was also caused by a drain choked with plastic. After a devastating flood in 1998, Bangladesh was the first country to ban plastic. India, too, banned single-use plastic last year.

The Karnataka government took the initiative in 2016, banning plastic less than 40 microns thick, but failed to enforce it. Manufacturing units continued to thrive, and efforts to shut them were unsuccessful, with the workers' livelihoods taking precedence. More recently, the government took tougher steps, like imposing heavy fines on retail vendors and introducing compostable plastic bags, but its effects still need to be visible. The government must realise the jobs of a few thousand people cannot be allowed to play havoc with the environment, and should rehabilitate them before shutting down the plastic bag units.

Environmentalists may cry hoarse about the dangers of plastic, but they are up against an insensitive administration and an unthinking public. Yet, green warriors are bringing in a slow change, and it is heartening to see several eco-friendly initiatives and sustainable alternatives becoming a part of daily life. It is baffling why an intelligent human race, which can foretell the disastrous consequences of plastic, continues to use it. Quite simply, it's hara-kiri on a global scale.

QUICK TAKE

KIDS AND CYBER RISKS

A French law passed last week requires social media platforms to obtain verifiable parental consent for those under 15 to protect them online, stop cyberbullying and ensure they access only appropriate content. The law flies against a watchdog report saying 2.3 million French minors accessed x-rated websites on smartphones, out of parental sight, in 2022. This should make us in India realise that controls must be both age- and risk-appropriate. Legislation and parental awareness must tackle unique digital risks like sexting or children's data misuse. The idea is not to control screen time but create a safe online environment for children.

The developments in Maharashtra will make it difficult for Sharad Pawar to focus on larger battles to save the nation when the ground beneath his feet has somewhat slipped

THE MYSTERY TORCH-BEARER OF OPPOSITION UNITY

SUGATA SRINIVASARAJU

Senior journalist and author

SOUMYADIP SINHA

A lot has transpired after the June 23 Opposition meeting in Patna. First and foremost, the new Opposition front has had to reschedule its next meeting date. It was to be held on July 13–14 in Bengaluru, but on Monday it was postponed to July 17–18.

Unlike the introductory meet-and-greet session in Patna, it appears that Opposition leaders have kept aside two full days in the tech city to thrash out an array of complex political and electoral issues that confronts them. But after the Sunday siesta-hour developments vis-à-vis the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) in Maharashtra, a certain gloom has checkered their certitude and enthusiasm.

Interestingly, it was Sharad Pawar who had first announced the July 13–14 dates and venue of the second Opposition meeting, only a couple of days before his party plunged into a crisis. The original plan was to have the meeting in Shimla and Mallikarjun Kharge was to preside over it, but the change was communicated by Pawar. One wondered why Pawar had made the announcement when ideally it should have been Kharge. But one read it as Pawar's fine game of upmanship and usurpation. It is now clear that Pawar was only trying to look busy while clearing up in advance his position with regard to the impending split in his party.

The new set of dates were communicated by the Congress' K C Venugopal on Monday with a reassurance of "unwavering resolve to defeat the fascist and undemocratic forces". That assertion captured the drift.

Just before the Maharashtra developments, a buoyant Narendra Modi, after his return from the United States, had put Opposition parties in a familiar quandary. He had wasted no time in bundling and branding them as scamsters and had simultaneously raised the Uniform Civil Code (UCC) agenda, which had left them scrambling for a response. The Congress' dilemma was soon evident. It said the UCC was "undesirable at this stage". It was not clear if it would become desirable at a later stage.

The Congress also said it will examine and react when it sees the draft bill or a report on the UCC issue. That may be very prudent, but it was also about putting off an awkward moment. This postponement suggested that the party would rather respond to the fine print and not the spirit or emotion that had forged the UCC idea—a divisive ideological item that has been on the to-do list of the Right for the longest period.

Anyway, the Sunday developments in Maharashtra will make it difficult for Sharad Pawar to focus on larger battles to save the nation when the ground beneath his feet has somewhat slipped. To that extent the Opposition has lost the undivided attention of an experienced strategist. Pawar's fate is now not dissimilar to that of Uddhav Thackeray, where one is not sure of what influence and infrastructure he commands in his own party.

Pawar has been excessively manipulative, and in his short and long political past, even his U-turns, rebellions, skulduggery and setbacks have been grandly touted as his own Machiavellian game and his own masterful script. He was always presented as a man never vulnerable but as the one who always exploited the vulnerability of others. For the record, he had rebelled against Sonia Gandhi when she was most vulnerable in 1999.

The media image that Pawar created for himself over the decades has come to haunt him at this juncture. It makes him deeply suspect in the eyes of his colleagues and a citizenry that seeks Opposition unity. They are confused if the defections in Maharashtra were his own ingenuity or was a plot against him. Pawar, given his history, has no moral plank to stand on. As the lovely Shakespearean cliché goes, he may have been hoisted by his own petard. A sarcastic remark on social media after the Sunday events said: "And the Oscar goes to... Sharad Pawar." That seemed to sum it up quite a bit.

Nitish Kumar has a similar reputation of being endlessly opportunistic. His deputy in the Bihar government, Tejaswi Yadav, had a lovely phrase for him in the past—"Paltu Chacha" (turncoat uncle). That very phrase was appropriated recently by Amit Shah at a Bihar rally. He called him "Paltu Babu". How this history, circumstance and image of two of the shrewdest Opposition leaders will impact unity plans is an enormous riddle. None in the Bengaluru meeting will speak about the trust deficit the two have acquired but will be terribly cautious.

Most recently, Nitish did it with former prime minister H D Deve Gowda. He pursued Gowda for months for a merger of their respective Janata Dal units, but when it came to the June 23 Patna meeting, he conveniently chose to be influenced by the Congress. He did not even extend an invitation. If Nitish had kept Gowda, the nonagenarian patriarch of the Janata parivar, on his side, he wouldn't have to suffer the humiliation of nominating himself as the future prime minister. Now, with the uncertainties that bog Opposition unity, Gowda seems to have had the last laugh and yet again, suspicions about Nitish appear very real.

That leaves Lalu Prasad Yadav to shoulder the responsibility of keeping the Opposition committed. But it is the current constituents of the Opposition themselves, chiefly the Congress, that made Lalu infructuous. He has been made more a political entertainer than a torch-bearer of Opposition unity. The same liberal elite that pine for the return of the Congress—and obnoxiously comment on the English accent of Narendra Modi—were the ones who spoke disgustingly about the antics and appearance of Lalu Yadav at one time. Now, they want to desperately resurrect him as a secular messiah, but he carries too much baggage. He, too, lived up to his image of acerbic frivolity on June 23 in Patna by speaking about Rahul Gandhi's non-marriage and stubbornness. Like always, he managed a good laugh.

What the Opposition desperately needs is a moral anchor, like the one they had in Jayaprakash Narayan during the Emergency. So far, they have discovered none. If there is anyone with a stern moral voice among the lot that met in Pune, it is Rahul Gandhi. He is ideologically committed and may eventually choose not to sit with the potential B teams of the BJP.

VICIOUS CYCLE OF VIOLENCE IN WEST BENGAL

SHIKHA MUKERJEE

Senior journalist

Violence begets violence, and then it becomes a monstrous cycle of viciousness. Embedded in the roots of rural power equations, the murderous conflicts of the West Bengal panchayat elections in 2023 which have claimed 13 victims so far reflect the tensions and frictions that overshadow daily transactions.

Identities in West Bengal are manifest in political terms; therefore, households and individuals are marked as much by their political allegiance as their other identities. Expecting political parties, riven by competitive factions and intense rivalries over turf and domination of these territorial parcels, to take control and curb the worst of the violence is probably unrealistic. The same is true of the administration, which, over the years, has been weakened from neutrality into an increasingly partisan bureaucracy and police force.

The edginess in 2023 that underlies the eruptions of bloody violence, in which 13 people have already died, differs from the tensions of 2018 when 27 people died, and 2013 when about 30 people died in murderous encounters between rival political groups. The continuing violence in this election is an indication of an unstable political equilibrium within the dominant Trinamool Congress (TMC) on the one hand and between the ruling party and the Communist Party of India (Marxist), and its Left allies, who are showing signs of revival and a willingness to fight that is new.

The challenger for the TMC in this election is not so much the BJP even though it is the official opposition in the West Bengal State Assembly with 70 lawmakers. The ruling party this time faces multiple challengers, of which the CPI(M) is the most important. The Indian Secular Front in a tiny but very turbulent pocket of Bhangar in North 24 Parganas is another. The Congress fight against the TMC is confined to well-known geographies like Murshidabad, Malda and Hooghly.

The fissures and factions within the TMC had surfaced for a variety of reasons, making it a far more volatile party than it was in 2021 when it faced its biggest challenge from the BJP and succeeded with a spectacular victory. Two years ago, the TMC seemed to have sorted out the intense rivalries between locally powerful leaders who worked at cross purposes. This year, the party in several districts is back to being a house divided, with local leaders and their henchmen fighting among themselves.

The revelations of the involvement of high-level TMC leaders, their associates and families in large-scale corruption in the under-investigation money-for-jobs scandal and the cow-coal smuggling scandal have impacted the party's credibility. To counter the visual impact of the magnitude of corruption, the party organised an internal exercise, much like the US Primaries, for the selection of panchayat candidates. The goal was to exclude the unpopular and presumably corrupt and assemble a list of clean and locally popular candidates. Senior party leaders admit this has exacerbated the violence instead of containing it.

> Instead of trashing the presence of central security forces ... It would have been politically wiser to deal with the deployment as an add-on to the existing policing arrangements for the one-day panchayat elections

To top it, this year's administrative management of the panchayat elections seems even messier than in 2018, when the TMC won nearly 34% of the panchayat seats without a contest. Compared with 2013, when central security forces were deployed by State Election Commissioner Meera Pandey to ensure free and fair elections, the route for bringing in 822 companies of central security forces in 2023 has been tortuous. Instead of asking the Ministry of Home Affairs directly, the newly appointed State Election Commissioner Rajiva Sinha was ordered to do so by the Calcutta HC, following appeals from the Congress and the BJP.

Continuing violence and the perception that the state and its Election Commissioner are failing to bring the bloody confrontations and murderous attacks under control have been strengthened by the strange strategy of Sinha, who procrastinated identifying "sensitive areas" and listing the booths where surveillance needs strengthening. The TMC has invited criticism for challenging the High Court's order to deploy central forces by going to the Supreme Court, where it lost the appeal.

Instead of trashing the presence of central security forces, which Mamata Banerjee did in Cooch Behar last week, accusing them of intimidating voters and telling them not to vote, it would have been politically wiser to deal with the deployment as an add-on to the existing policing arrangements for the one-day panchayat elections. By reacting aggressively, the TMC boss has stoked suspicion that she is uncomfortable with their presence, which the opposition and political pundits think is necessary.

To argue that the state's police and forces borrowed from other states are adequate for providing security in a one-day election is almost childish. There are 61,636 polling booths that have to be manned for the one-day panchayat election on July 8, in which voters will choose over 73,000 panchayat representatives.

Hard as it may be for a state administration under intense pressure and divided in its assessment of the magnitude of violence and the best strategy to end the killings and control the initial violence, the imperative to do so is obvious. Politically, Mamata Banerjee cannot afford to be seen to win the 2023 panchayat election by wading through a river of blood.

Win this election; she must. The panchayats, with over 73,000 representatives, are the grassroots that attach the TMC to voters. With the 2024 Lok Sabha elections coming up, where the TMC has already staked its position as a major anti-BJP force, Mamata Banerjee needs to win the panchayat elections in a way that increases her goodwill among voters and her credibility as a leader. Her change of tactics, evident in her criss-crossing the state to hold meetings, strongly indicates that she is not sanguine about the popular vote. The violence indicates that the Trinamool Congress is fighting this panchayat election under pressure.

UCC introduction

There cannot be an iota of doubt about the need to have uniform rules across the country in matters like minimum age of marriage, divorce, etc. But there should be sufficient awareness campaigns before enacting UCC.

Sunday coup

Ref: The sound of a Sunday coup is silence, ask Ajit Pawar (July 4). While I enjoy the columnist's sarcasm, I fail to understand his criticism about the haste shown for the oath ceremony of Ajit Pawar and his team! When in 2019 it was done early in the morning, it was claimed to be done at dawn! Now that it was done in the afternoon, it is objected to because it was done on a Sunday! My question to the esteemed writer is, did the formation of MVA follow democratic principles?

Exploiting borrowers

Bigshot defaulters are pampered while the aam aadmi is treated unpleasantly. The editorial has rightly said customers who lack financial literacy are exploited. Loan recovery procedures should include compassion.

Loan sharks

The elderly couple's suicide owing to loan sharks is very shocking. Loaning without assessing the repaying capacity is a moot question. The private lenders are responsible for abetting the suicide, and suitable measures need to be taken against the erring staff. It is high time the government/RBI came out with a lasting solution.

Given the proclivity of waterlogging and flooding in Bengaluru, these tunnels will be hazardous. Big IT and industrial establishments can be dispersed to second-tier cities like Shivamogga, Tumkuru, etc., which can be made more compatible with the IT crowd.

Govt rapped over Odisha train tragedy

Inquiry report cites faulty signalling and human error as reasons for June 2 triple-train accident

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE Congress and Trinamool Congress attacked the Modi government on Tuesday saying the government has "compromised" on the core issues of railway safety.

The Opposition's attack on the Modi government came after the Commission of Railway Safety (CRS) submitted its report on the triple train accident in Odisha's Balasore district on June 2, which claimed the lives of more than 250 people.

The CSR report cites faulty signalling system and human error as the main reasons behind the tragedy.

Sources said that a high-level inquiry has found "wrong signalling" to be the main reason for the accident and flagged "lapses at multiple levels" in the Signalling and Telecommunications department, but indicated that the tragedy could have been averted if the past red flags were reported.

"This is what we have been saying all along. In the craze for inaugurating Vande Bharat trains, fixating on bullet trains and tinkering with specialised cadres, the Modi government has compromised on basic issues of railway safety that don't make for photo-ops and headlines," Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh tweeted.

He alleged that the Balasore tragedy was a human error, at the root of which is management failure, which includes the political leadership. "What will it take to bring the overall approach to the railways back on track?" he asked.

At the AICC headquarters, party spokesperson Supriya Shrinate said it is the government's responsibility to ensure the safety of passengers. "We appeal that do not get into this business of hot food and new Vande Bharats. First ensure the safety of those travelling by train. It is the responsibility of the government to ensure that people reach their destinations safely and not just keep flagging off trains," she said.

Similarly, the Trinamool Congress accused the Centre of "prioritising public relations over passenger safety". They said concerns raised by the opposition on serious issues regarding the Indian Railways were "disregarded".

TMC's Rajya Sabha leader Derek O'Brien said, "India's passenger trains are neglected and remain mobile mortuaries. In Parliament, opposition parties have often red-flagged serious issues and offered constructive suggestions. No one listened, because public relations is prioritised over passenger safety. Was maintenance jeopardised because it was a service dog, not a show dog?"

WHAT PROBE REPORT SAYS

Accident involving Shalimar-Chennai Coromandel Express, a goods train and SMVT-Bengaluru-Howrah Express on June 2 was "a case of rear-collision" of the Shalimar-Chennai train with the goods train on the loop line

The rear-collision was due to the lapses in the signalling — circuit-alteration carried out at the north signal goomty of the station in the past, during the execution of the signalling work related to replacement of Electric Lifting Barrier for level crossing Gate No 94 at the station

Lapses resulted in wrong signalling to the train Shalimar-Chennai Coromandel Express

Cong hits out at Modi, says govt has failed to curb prices

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

DESCRIBING Prime Minister Narendra Modi as the "Mehngaai-Man," the Congress on Tuesday lashed out at the BJP government for its "failure to curb the skyrocketing prices of essential commodities".

Addressing the media in the capital, Congress spokesperson Supriya Shrinate said the poor and the middle classes in India were faced with a double whammy. On one side, they have to face backbreaking inflation and on the other, there is a rise in unemployment, she said.

"Unemployment rate was the highest right now. Till now, we had heard of Superman, the Spiderman and the He-Man and now we have the Mehngaai-Man," said Shrinate.

Prices of vegetables like tomatoes, which were selling between ₹10 and ₹15 per kg just a month ago are now selling for ₹100 to ₹150 per kg, she said.

She asked the government to immediately reduce the excise duty on fuel. "Ruthless taxation leads to additional cost of transportation that eventually ends up in a rise in the prices of essential commodities like vegetables. The burden is passed on to the common man," said Shrinate.

Comparing the prices of essential commodities prevailing now with those prevailing during the UPA government, Shrinate said that atta (flour) prices have risen by 46 per cent since 2013, while that of rice had increased by 25 per cent. She explained how the prices of Urad dal has also risen.

Meanwhile, All India Mahila Congress activists, led by acting president Netta D'souza, staged a flash protest in front of the BJP office. The party alleged that protestors were brutally assaulted and manhandled by the Delhi Police.

Six seismogram towers set up in Joshimath to monitor land sinking

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE National Centre of Seismology (NCS) under the Ministry of Earth Sciences recently installed six seismogram towers in Joshimath to monitor land subsidence and develop a robust solution. These towers will facilitate in compiling data for a study on whether the region has natural or man-made hydrological changes causing land subsidence.

The study will help prepare seismic microzonation maps, which are very useful in urban planning because they help predict the impact of earthquakes. After this, the Chamoli region, where Joshimath is located, will have its own building design code for future development.

It will also help in long-term planning for the sustainable development of high seismic zones in the Himalayan region. The result of this study will come in December this year.

"We have put up six seismogram towers in the Joshimath," said Dr OP Mishra, director of the National Centre for Seismology. There was already one seismogram tower set up in Joshimath in 1991.

"The first tower measured earthquakes at a regional scale, whereas new towers are dedicated to measuring earthquakes at the local scale to get more detailed information. Based on it, Joshimath can be further divided into a number of seismic microzonation maps," said Dr Mishra.

NCS had conducted a similar study in Gujarat's Bhuj in 2003, after the great Bhuj earthquake of 2001. Dr Mishra and his team studied the crack density saturation there.

M Ravichandran, Secretary, Ministry of Earth Sciences, said that this study would record time series data and try to confirm the theory of whether the region has hydrological change due to man-made activities or if climate change has caused land subsidence. "There are lots of developmental activities going on in that area. At the same time, climatic effects such as frequent runoff rain cause cracks in subsurface levels. We will superimpose our findings to get reasons behind land subsidence," he said.

Scientists explain that the current genesis of land subsidence lies in the 6.8 magnitude earthquake in Chamoli in 1999.

Buzz on U'khand UCC as template for law

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

WITH the debate on a Uniform Civil Code (UCC) continuing to simmer, Prime Minister Modi met Uttarakhand Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami here on Tuesday, setting off speculation that the state's UCC draft could be a model for the Central law. Uttarakhand's expert committee is expected to submit its draft UCC bill to the state government soon.

Speaking to the media after the meeting, Dhami ducked questions on his state's draft UCC coming up for discussion with the PM and whether it could be a template for a national law.

"The PM is aware of the provisions of the UCC. It is his thought that a common civil code should be implemented in the country," he said.

Dhami added that the state's expert panel on UCC had consulted tribal groups in Uttarakhand as well. "The committee has reached to tribal communities. The draft will be submitted soon," he said.

Dhami had a meeting with Union home minister Amit Shah on Monday night.

On Monday, at a Standing Committee meeting on Law and Justice, its chairman and BJP MP Sushil Kumar pushed for the exemption of tribals from the UCC.

Sources said in view of 2024 elections and the upcoming state polls, the BJP may be in consonance with the view that tribals should be exempted from the common civil code.

Border states, UTs get financial aid to shelter victims of trafficking

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

INDIA being the source and a destination for trafficking – especially of minor girls – the Centre has chalked out plans to block human trade by helping the border states to plug gaps.

While the Centre has provided money to states under the Nirbhaya Fund to set up and strengthen anti-human trafficking units (AHTUs) in every district of the country, the government has now decided to provide financial assistance to states and Union Territories in border areas to set up protection and rehabilitation homes for the victims of trafficking, particularly for the minor girls and young women, said an official from the Ministry of Women and Child Development.

These homes will provide services like shelter, food, clothing, counselling, primary health facilities and other daily requirements to these trafficked girls. The source countries are Nepal, Bangladesh and Myanmar, where women and girls are getting trafficked in the guise of being provided a better life, jobs and good living conditions in India.

"The majority of them are minor girls or women of younger age, who after their arrival in India are sold or forced into commercial sex work," the official added.

'These girls often reach major cities like Mumbai, Delhi, Hyderabad etc., from where they are taken out of the country mainly in the Middle East and South East Asian countries," the official said.

This is the reason, ministry officials said, that the bordering states to these countries need to be more vigilant and need to have adequate facilities to provide relief and rehabilitation services for the victims.

Officials said that apart from strengthening the AHTUs, funding has also been provided for AHTUs in border guarding forces such as the BSF and SSB.

Now there are 788 AHTUs, including 30 in functional border forces. The victims will be produced before the child welfare committee to declare fit for providing sponsorship as per the Mission Vatsalya Scheme guideline. Accordingly, the states/UTs will be requested to do the needful, the official said. He added that it may not be possible to set up these facilities, so the states are free to take any building or government building on rent.

Under Juvenile Justice Act 2015 (as amended in 2021), any facility being run by a governmental organisation or a voluntary or NGO registered under any law can take temporary responsibility for a child for a specific purpose.

Disqualification of Maha rebel MLAs: Uddhav faction moves SC

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

SHIV Sena (Uddhav Thackeray faction) MLA Sunil Prabhu has approached the Supreme Court seeking directions to Maharashtra Legislative Assembly Speaker on expeditiously deciding the disqualification pleas pending against Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde and 15 rebel Sena MLAs led by him.

Notably, the apex court on May 11 while remarking that the rift does not raise "extraordinary circumstances" said it could not ordinarily adjudicate disqualification pleas under Schedule 10 of the Constitution and thus opined that the Speaker of the Maharashtra Legislative Assembly is the appropriate constitutional authority to decide the question of disqualification petitions pending against Shinde and 15 others.

Against this backdrop, it is argued in the plea that although the five-judge bench in a unanimous verdict on May 11 asked the Speaker to decide the pleas within a "reasonable time" the speaker has taken no step in that regard. It has been contended that the Speaker irrespective of submission of three representations for convening the hearing in the disqualification matter on May 15, May 23 and June 2 has not chosen to conduct a single hearing.

It also stated that the speaker in "brazen disregard" to his constitutional duties as a neutral arbiter has sought to delay the adjudications of the disqualification petitions.

"Speaker's inaction in deciding the disqualification proceedings is an act of grave constitutional impropriety as his inaction is allowing MLAs who are liable to be disqualified to continue in the assembly and to hold responsible positions in the government of Maharashtra including that of the chief minister," the plea stated.

The plea also stated that incumbent Speaker has clearly demonstrated by his inaction that he is incapable of functioning as a fair and unbiased tribunal under Schedule 10.

Interestingly, the Supreme Court in its ruling had effectively opened the door for disqualification of Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde for defection from the Shiv Sena party, but ruled that it could not quash the resignation of Uddhav Thackeray and thus would not be able to reinstate him as the CM of Maharashtra.

> Speaker's inaction in deciding the disqualification proceedings is an act of grave constitutional impropriety as his inaction is allowing MLAs who are liable to be disqualified to continue in the assembly

Narco-terror case: NIA attaches house of 2 brothers

AMIT MUKHERJEE @ New Delhi

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) has taken action against two brothers involved in a smuggling case where drugs were disguised as rock salt imported from Pakistan.

The NIA has seized the residential property of Bikramjit Singh, also known as Bikram Singh or Vicky, and Maninder Singh, also known as Mani, who are from Amritsar, Punjab.

The property has been attached under section 25(1) of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act 1967, as it has been identified as "proceeds of terrorism."

The National Investigation Agency had previously arrested the two brothers in connection with this case. So far, the agency has filed four chargesheets, including three supplementary ones, against 13 individuals involved in the case.

The chargesheets have been filed under the relevant sections of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, and the Indian Penal Code. The case pertains to a conspiracy orchestrated by a narco-terror module aiming to smuggle large quantities of drugs into India from Pakistan.

The drugs were concealed within shipments of rock salt imported from across the border. The proceeds from the sale of these smuggled drugs were utilised to acquire movable and immovable properties in Punjab and to fund Hizb-ul-Mujahideen terrorists in the Kashmir Valley.

Previously, the NIA had also seized 60 Kanal and 10 Marla of land and six vehicles in connection with the same case. Additionally, a cash amount of ₹6,35,000 was confiscated. The investigation into this matter is still going on, according to a spokesperson from the National Investigation Agency.

Chargesheet against ISIS members in Kolkata court

AMIT MUKHERJEE @ Kolkata

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) on Tuesday filed a chargesheet against two ISIS members involved in promoting the proscribed organisation's terror activities.

The chargesheet was filed against accused Mohammad Saddam alias Saddam Mallick alias Abdul Mallick, and Abdul Rakib Qureshi alias Abdul Raqib Qureshi by the Special Task Force-Kolkata before the NIA court here. They have been chargesheeted under Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act and sections of the Indian Penal Code.

The duo was arrested by STF Kolkata on January 6 this year for hatching a conspiracy against the Indian government by collecting arms, ammunition and explosives, and recruiting Muslim youths for carrying out terror acts for the ISIS in India and abroad. The STF had initially registered an FIR and NIA had taken over the case a month later, on February 6.

A large quantity of incriminating material, used for propaganda and radicalisation on behalf of ISIS, was seized from the accused. Qureshi was also convicted earlier for life in a UAPA case for his association with SIMI, another banned organisation, NIA sources said.

Investigations showed Saddam had entered into a criminal conspiracy with Qureshi to recruit people, target prominent personalities and send the recruits abroad for executing ISIS-led terror activities. The duo used encrypted social media platforms for communication to evade detection by law enforcement agencies.

YELLOW ALERT IN HP

The Local Met office on Tuesday issued a 'yellow' alert from July 4 to 8 for heavy rains, thunderstorms and lightning at isolated places over plains, low and mid hills areas in 10 districts of Himachal.

Teni faces axe in Modi team rejig

Long-time party critic Varun Gandhi likely to be denied ticket for 2024 LS elections

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

AT least two of the 15 faces from UP in the Narendra Modi cabinet may be dropped in the much anticipated ministerial reshuffle, sources in the state capital said.

The two ministers likely to be dropped in the reshuffle include Minister of State for Home Affairs Ajay Mishra 'Teni' and Chandauli MP and heavy industry minister Mahendra Nath Pandey.

Teni has been hitting the headlines for all the wrong reasons since October 2021 when his son Ashish Mishra led a carcade, comprising an SUV that ran four protesting farmers over, trampling them to death in Lakhimpur Kheri.

The farmers were protesting against the three farm laws which were later repealed. Currently, Teni's son, accused of the murder of the four farmers, is out on bail but restricted from entering UP by the Supreme Court.

Sources said Teni and Mahendra Nath Pandey, both prominent Brahmin faces of the BJP, may be replaced by two caste representatives, including former UP BJP chief Laxmi Kant Bajpai, who is a Rajya Sabha member, and Harish Dwivedi, party MP from Basti in eastern UP.

Bajpai is MLA from Meerut multiple times. However, he had to taste a crushing defeat in the saffron surge of 2017. Bajpai is counted among the frontline leaders of the state BJP with a strong RSS background. He was sent to Rajya Sabha by the party in May 2022.

Meanwhile, observers believe the party may deny the ticket to its Pilibhit MP Varun Gandhi in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections given that Varun has emerged as one of the strongest detractors of his party's government over a number of issues, including farmer distress, unemployment, price rise, rural stress, among others.

Sources wonder if Varun will contest the Lok Sabha election from BJP or if he is contemplating a political shift in the run-up to the 2024 polls.

However, the Pilibhit MP has never hinted about a switch, leading to speculation about his future moves. Varun had taken the plunge into electoral politics in 2009 by winning the Pilibhit Lok Sabha seat with a huge margin. Then Pilibhit was his mother Maneka Gandhi's constituency. Now she is an MP from Sultanpur in central UP.

Sources said the party may think twice before deciding on the ticket to Varun from Pilibhit in 2024.

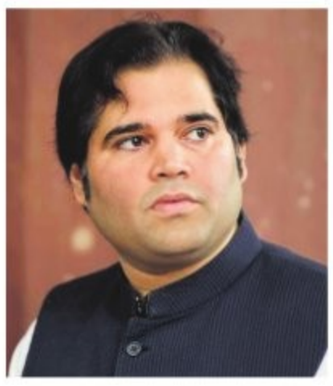
"In his place, the party may prefer Sanjay Singh Gangwar, an OBC and two-time MLA from the Pilibhit City Assembly segment. It will help the party to send across a positive message to the OBCs who have been backing the BJP overwhelmingly since 2014," says a senior BJP leader.

Observers say the BJP needs to nurture another OBC leader in Terai and Bareilly regions after Santosh Gangwar, who is now 74. He has been a leader of stature in the Bareilly region and has represented the seat in Lok Sabha eight times from 1989 to 2019, except in 2009 when he lost the election by a narrow margin to Congress Praveen Singh Aron.

"The party is looking for another OBC leader who can match the charisma and popularity of Santosh Gangwar in Bareilly and adjoining seats," says a senior BJP leader.

Meanwhile, Varun Gandhi has been quite vocal in expressing his dissent over issues in the recent past but the party has been following guarded silence over his diatribes.

Though the party did not initiate any disciplinary action against the Gandhi scion, it sidelined him in the organisation. He along with his mother Maneka Gandhi was dropped from party's national executive committee.



Why Teni and Varun fell out of favour with brass

Minister of State for Home Affairs Ajay Mishra 'Teni' has been hitting the headlines for all the wrong reasons since October 2021 when his son Ashish Mishra led a carcade, comprising an SUV that ran four protesting farmers over, trampling them to death in Lakhimpur Kheri. Meanwhile, MP Varun Gandhi emerged as one of the strongest detractors of his party's government over a number of issues, including farmer distress, unemployment, price rise, rural stress, among others.

MP CM dishes out sops for contract staff, skilled youth

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

JUST a few months before the year-end assembly polls in Madhya Pradesh, chief minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan made a slew of announcements for around 2.5 lakh contractual employees of the state government on Tuesday.

Addressing a mega convention of the contractual employees (who've been protesting for their cause since long time), the CM made the announcements, which included ending the existing system of annual contract for the contract employees, giving them the benefits of the National Pension Scheme and giving them 100% amount in salary/honorarium

He also announced benefits under the health insurance scheme to the contractual employees, rendering them the benefits of compassionate appointment, gratuity on retirement, 50% reservation for them in recruitment to regular posts in government departments and provision of maternity leave and other leaves like regular employees. The CM also announced that the amount of salary deducted for contract employees due to certain reasons (protests) will be refunded and no cases against them would continue.

CM initiated the registration process of youths under CM Learn and Earn Scheme. Also, on Tuesday, he inaugurated the registration process of applicants under the 'Mukhya Mantri Seekho-Kamao Yojana' to facilitate on-the-job training of youths in registered industrial and commercial establishments.

Under the scheme, permanent resident youths of MP, who are aged between 18-29 years and whose minimum educational qualification is Class XII or ITI pass or higher, will be provided training in private establishments, including reputed industries and companies.

The scheme will provide monthly stipend ranging between ₹8,000 and ₹10,000 to youth along with training, skill upgradation, which will boost their employment opportunities. About 75 per cent of the stipend will be paid through direct benefit transfer (DBT) to the trainee on behalf of the state.

Advertisement fracas to cost Shinde his chair?

The cost of one advertisement lays heavy on Shinde. The political circle there is abuzz that the controversial advertisement put out by Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde-led factions, showing he is more popular than his deputy Devendra Fadnavis, prompted the BJP, mainly Fadnavis, to expedite the Ajit Pawar operation to show Shinde his place in the government. This one advertisement can lose Shinde his chief minister's chair as well. There has been a speculation that once Ajit gets adequate numbers for the government, he may be elevated as CM while Shinde will be shown the exit door gracefully.

Ajit expected Sharad Pawar to quit NCP

Ajit Pawar, who revolted against his uncle and NCP chief Sharad Pawar, was unhappy with his uncle taking a U-turn after he withdrew his resignation and is paying more attention to anti-Ajit Pawar forces in the party. It was decided that once Sharad resigns, Supriya will be appointed party president while Ajit or his close aide will join the party so that they can take the decision of joining the BJP in absence of senior Pawar. But the former agriculture minister changed his mind and withdrew resignation that compelled Ajit to revolt and join the hand of BJP with his factions.

Ajit-Sharad not 1st relatives to fall out

Maharashtra witnessed the third prominent uncle versus nephew political battle. It started with Shiv Sena supremo Bal Thackeray whose nephew Raj Thackeray ran against the party because he lost the space in party and flouted away from MNS. Then BJP leader Gopinath Munde, rather than choosing his nephew Dhananjay Munde as his political successor, chose his daughter Panakaja Munde that forced Jr Munde to leave the party and family and join hands with the NCP. Now it will be interesting to see whether Ajit succeeds in his plan to get the CM's post and get control over the party or face his uncle beating him in a political wrestle once again.

Golden Temple langar scam: SGPC suspends 51 employees

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

SHIROMANI Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC) President Harjinder Singh Dhami on Tuesday suspended 51 staffers of the apex gurudwara management body for their alleged involvement in a 'Langar Scam' at the Golden Temple, Amritsar, said sources.

They were earlier indicted by an inquiry committee for administrative irregularities in disposing of leftover food from Sri Guru Ram Dass Jee Langar Hall in the temple complex between April 2019 and December 2022. Sources said the leftovers (langar) including stale rotis, rice and vegetables were sold as cattle feed. There was a tendering process but reportedly the amount was not fully deposited in the exchequer of SGPC by the guilty.

SGPC secretary Partap Singh said the suspended employees included managers, supervisors, storekeepers and gurdwara inspectors. SGPC President Harjinder Dhami said no irregularity would not be tolerated.

Calcutta HC: Deploy Central forces, cops in all booths in equal ratio

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

THREE days after the State Election Commission (SEC) issued a notification, not mentioning whether the central force will be deployed in polling booths, the Calcutta HC on Tuesday directed the state poll panel to deploy Central Armed Paramilitary Force (CAPF) personnel alongside their counterparts from the state in equal measure in each and every polling station during the upcoming rural polls on July 8.

During the course of hearing, deputy solicitor general Billwadal Bhattacharya mentioned in his petition that as far as the strength of central forces which have been deployed is concerned, there will be nearly 65,000 active personnel. The state police force will be about 70,000 and the deployment will on a ration of fifty-fifty will solve the issue.

The division bench of Chief Justice T. S. Shivagnanam and Justice Hiranmay Bhattacharya upheld Bhattacharya's submission.

The oppositions had demanded deployment of central force personnel in all 61,636 booths and they welcomed the high court's order.

With a total of 14 persons dead in past 26 days since the announcement of panchayat elections in Bengal, the chief of West Bengal police said on Tuesday that there were "two to three" incidents of violence in the state and the police took stern action in every case.

"There were two or three incidents of violence in Bengal related to panchayat polls. We have instructions from authorities to swing into action and take stern action immediately after incidents of violence and police acted accordingly," said Director General of Police (DGP) Manoj Malviya.

Manipur tribals oppose CM's plan to destroy bunkers built by people

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Guwahati

THE Manipur government's decision to destroy the illegal bunkers has met with opposition. The Indigenous Tribal Leaders' Forum (ITLF) said the destruction of the bunkers would make the Kuki-Zo tribal villages more vulnerable to attacks from "radical Meitei gunmen and mobs." The decision is not comforting for the Kuki-Zo tribals, it added.

After chairing a meeting of the Unified Command on Monday evening, Chief Minister N Biren Singh said the government has decided to deploy forces to destroy all bunkers built by villagers.

The ITLF said despite the deployment of a large number of security personnel and the setting up of military buffer zones, the tribal villages were being attacked almost every day, leading to deaths and destruction of houses. "Meitei settlements do not need bunkers because tribals do not attack them; but for tribals, bunkers are an essential part of their defense against raids," the tribal organisation said.

LIFE IN BUNKERS FOR MANIPURIS

1. Despite security forces, several armed people in Manipur from Meitei & Kuki communities live in bunkers after violence broke out in May
2. These bunkers are mostly in foothill areas adjoining Kuki villages
3. Some of these men are well-educated
4. Villages in the state now have their own armed volunteer groups

It further said the tribals cannot trust a CM who calls his fellow citizens 'illegal immigrants' and "openly sides" with one community despite being a state administrator.

"The CM's partisanship was on full display during his recent visit to the Sagang area, in which Langja village was attacked by armed Meitei groups. He only visited and paid his condolences to the Meiteis, while totally ignoring the burning of 30 tribal houses and the brutal killing and beheading of an unarmed tribal youth," the ITLF said.

It further stated that "cosmetic measures are not enough to control the violence." It urged the Centre to show its fairness to all sides by implementing President's rule in the state.

The violence in Manipur, which broke out on May 3, has so far left over 120 people dead and an estimated 50,000 others displaced. Meanwhile, expressing his deep concern over the unabated violence in Manipur, Mizoram Chief Minister Zoramthanga on Tuesday said it is incumbent upon those responsible and law-abiding citizens or entities of India to look for immediate ways for the restoration of peace.

"Development with a human touch and 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas' applies to my Zo ethnic tribes in Manipur too!" Zoramthanga said.

INHUMAN ACT

MAN PEES ON MENTALLY DISABLED TRIBAL MAN

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

IN a shocking incident, a man identified as Pravesh Shukla – who is said to be associated with ruling BJP and the party's local MLA — has been caught on camera, urinating on a mentally disabled tribal man in Sidhi district of Madhya Pradesh.

With the outrageous incident sparking a political controversy in the assembly poll bound state, a case was lodged in Sidhi district against the accused u/s 294 and 504 IPC as well as under provisions of the SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act on Tuesday.

Also, the National Security Act (NSA) is being invoked against the accused following directions by the state's chief minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan. The incident came to light after the shocking video of Shukla smoking and urinating on the poor tribal man went viral.

According to DIG-Rewa Range Mithilesh Shukla, "Primary investigations have revealed that the accused and the victim Dashmat Rawat, both hail from Kubri village. The incident caught on camera too reportedly happened in Kubri."

> MP tops in the country when it comes to crime against tribals. I demand the strictest action from the CM
>
> Kamal Nath, Congress chief

The outrageous incident sparked political controversy in the assembly polls-bound state, as the opposition Congress attacked the ruling BJP.

"The accused being associated with the ruling BJP, is even more shocking. MP is already number one in the country when it comes to crime against the tribals. I demand from the CM strictest action against the accused," state Congress chief and former CM Kamal Nath tweeted.

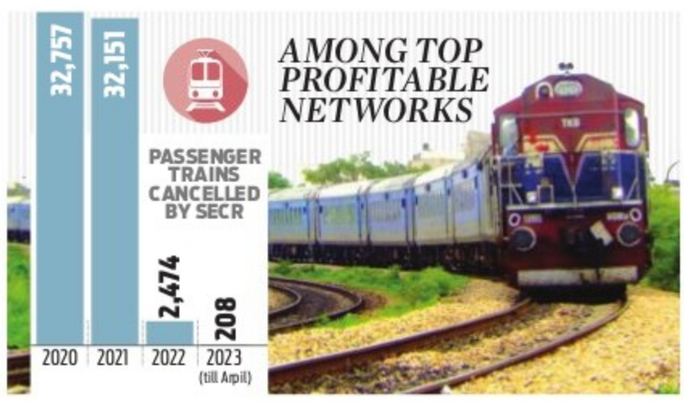
RTI reveals over 67k cancellations by South East Central Rlys in 3 years

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

REGULAR delays and unforeseen suspension or cancellation of several long route passenger trains have left the commuters distressed and wearisome. Reportedly, according to the railways, over 67,600 passenger trains have been cancelled since 2020 till April this year in the South East Central Railway (SECR) zone that covers Chhattisgarh till Nagpur.

In response to the query filed under the Right to Information (RTI) by the Chhattisgarh-based RTI applicant Kunal Shukla in SECR, one of the most profit-making zones, the railways admitted over 67,600 passenger trains have been cancelled since 2020 till April this year in the zone.

The RTI responses cited that in the year 2020, the railways cancelled 32,757 trains, in 2021 the operations of 32,151 trains were suspended. In 2022, 2,474 trains were called-off and till April this year so far 208 were postponed (SEE BOX). These trains served the short to long distance routes on different dates in the given year.



"Railways are national jewels but the worsening conditions of its services are indeed alarming for the citizens," said Shukla. Initially, there were strong protests in the Congress-ruled Chhattisgarh, with chief minister Bhupesh Baghel often expressing his concerns over the cancellation and excessive delay of passenger trains, calling the trend as "anti-people".

As many as nine out of the 11 Lok Sabha members from Chhattisgarh are from the BJP who also admitted the cancellation of trains lead to discomfort and hardships for the people. But they apparently didn't have any say in the decision.

Besides the cancellation and suspension, the local population is "unhappy and expressed their strong resentment" as they helplessly lamented since most of the trains were running too late.

'Does law permit public flogging?' Guj HC asks cops over 2022 incident

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

THE Gujarat High Court has asked the state police "if there is any statute that allows for the public flogging of guilty persons." On July 3, the court was considering a case involving five Muslim males who were publicly beaten up by police in the Kheda district of Gujarat, last October.

During the case's hearing, a Gujarat High Court bench asked public prosecutor Mitesh Amin to state unequivocally whether the state government recognised the fact that the incident occurred.

The court asked the public prosecutor that, "We made it clear at the last hearing that we will not decide this case based on emotion. We merely want you to say whether or not the flogging incident occurred."

The bench asked, "You can either argue that this was your officer's responsibility and that if they hadn't done it, the situation would have deteriorated to a worse extent. You have the option of claiming that the incident did not occur at all and that the evidence on record should not be considered."

The public prosecutor, however, said that the Muslim petitioners had pleaded falsely in the case. He alleged that the Muslims had plotted to scare Hindus in the area.

Public prosecutor argued that, "Earlier, some incidents took place in that area even during the Holi festival, and that this place has been sensitive and sensitivity has flared up there on several occasions. As part of their plot, they threw stones to disrupt the Hindu festivals."

He further said that the timing of the altercation, the incarceration of the Muslims, and the time specified in the petition were all off.

TERROR, TRADE, GROWTH FIGURE IN SCO SUMMIT

Putin thanks SCO states for support during Wagner revolt

MOSCOW

PRESIDENT Vladimir Putin said on Tuesday that the Russian people were "united as never before," as he sought to project confidence in the wake of a short-lived revolt, at the 23rd meeting of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) Council of Heads of State (CHS) presided by PM Narendra Modi in a virtual format where he can find a sympathetic audience.

The SCO meeting was Putin's first multilateral summit since an armed rebellion rattled Russia.

Speaking by video link from the Kremlin, Putin praised the organisation for "playing an increasingly significant role in international affairs, making a real contribution to maintaining peace and stability, ensuring sustainable economic growth of the participating states, and strengthening ties between peoples."

Vladimir Putin

He thanked the member states for supporting Russian authorities during the short-lived armed mutiny mounted by Wagner chief Yevgeny Prigozhin, and said the West had turned Ukraine into "a virtually hostile state—anti-Russia." Putin has frequently lashed out at the West for its support of Ukraine in the war.

The summit presents an opportunity for Putin to show that he's in control after an insurrection that left some wondering about divisions among Russian elites.

"The Russian people are united as never before," he said. "The solidarity and responsibility for the fate of the fatherland was clearly demonstrated by the Russian political circles and the entire society by standing as a united front against the attempted armed rebellion."

Xi calls to safeguard regional peace, pitches pet project BRI

BEIJING

CHINESE President Xi Jinping on Tuesday warned against the external attempts to foment a new "Cold War" in the region and called on the SCO member countries to safeguard regional peace and ensure security by cracking down on terrorism through joint operations.

"We should keep in mind the overall and long-term interests of our region, and make our foreign policies independently. We must be highly vigilant against external attempts to foment a new 'Cold War' or camp-based confrontation in our region," Xi said. He also urged the member states to "truly respect" each other's core interests and major concerns. In a veiled criticism of the US, Xi called for opposing hegemonism and power politics and making the system of global governance fairer.

Xi Jinping

In his address, Xi also made a pitch for the SCO members to synergise high-quality cooperation under his pet project the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) with various countries' development strategies and regional cooperation initiatives. "We need to enhance the connection of high-quality Belt and Road cooperation with development strategies of various countries and regional cooperation initiatives," Xi said.

He also proposed that the SCO scale up local currency settlement between member states, expand cooperation on digital currency, and promote the establishment of an SCO development bank. "China will carry out digital technology training programmes in collaboration with the China-SCO Big Data Cooperation Center, and host an SCO national green development forum," he said.

Fight terrorism & extremism with vigour, says Pak's Sharif

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN PM Shehbaz Sharif on Tuesday said the "hydra-headed monster" of terrorism and extremism, whether committed by individuals, groups or at state level, must be fought with full vigour and conviction, as he warned against using it as a cudgel for diplomatic point-scoring.

"The hydra-headed monster of terrorism and extremism, whether committed by individuals, societies or states, must be fought with full vigour and conviction. Any temptation to use it as a cudgel for diplomatic point-scoring must be avoided under all circumstances," he said. "Terrorism in all its forms and manifestations, including state terrorism, must be condemned in clear and unambiguous terms. There can be no justification for the killing of innocent people regardless of the cause or pretext."

Shehbaz Sharif

He also talked about the issue of religious minorities and said that the practice of demonising religious minorities in the 'pursuit of domestic political agendas' should be stopped, without naming any country.

Sharif also tried to rake up the Kashmir issue and highlighted the importance of UN resolutions to address the long overdue disputes.

He also highlighted the importance of connectivity by saying that it had become a defining feature in the modern global economy. He also talked about the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC), which he said could be a 'game changer' for connectivity and prosperity in the region.

Iran's Raisi calls out dollar dominance in transactions

TEHRAN

IRANIAN President Ebrahim Raisi on Tuesday said the Western hegemonic powers have jeopardised prosperity and the principles of fair trade by resorting to economic coercion and sanctions as he called for the removal of the dollar in transactions to form a fair international system.

Raisi made the remarks while addressing the SCO meeting via a video link as Iran became the 9th permanent member of the economic and security bloc.

"...the Western hegemonic powers, by resorting to economic coercion and sanctions, have jeopardised the security and economic prosperity and the principles of fair trade in the world," Raisi said, in a reference to sanctions imposed by the US-led West on Iran.

Ebrahim Raisi

Raisi said that expanding the use of national currencies in international trade and financial exchanges between the SCO member states and their business partners requires more serious attention. Noting that the SCO comprises more than 60% of the population of the Eurasian region and more than 40% of the world's population, Raisi said this huge capacity has given this organisation a wide potential to develop trade and deepen economic cooperation in various forms.

He also thanked PM Modi for hosting the summit and said Iran joining the grouping will have historical benefits. "Iran believes that [the SCO] is a growing organisation with significant indicators and capacities and a privileged position, and the benefits of this official [accession] of Iran will be recorded in history," he said.

8 hurt in Tel Aviv attack on day two of Israel's raid

JENIN

A Hamas militant drove his car into a crowded bus stop in Tel Aviv on Tuesday and began stabbing people, wounding eight in an attack praised by Palestinian militant groups as a response to Israel's ongoing military operation in the occupied West Bank.

Police chief Kobi Shabtai told reporters that an armed civilian shot and killed the assailant.

The attack came as Israeli troops pressed ahead with their hunt for Palestinian militants and weapons in the Jenin refugee camp, after military bulldozers tore through alleys and thousands of residents fled to safety. The two-day Palestinian death toll rose to 10.

The Palestinian Health Ministry said on Tuesday that the two-day death toll rose to 10, with two more deaths reported overnight. The Israeli military has claimed all were militants, but did not provide details.

Islamist militant group Hamas praised the Tel Aviv attacker as a "martyr fighter" and said the attack was "heroic and revenge for the military operation in Jenin." It was not immediately clear if the attacker was dispatched by the group or acted on his own. Islamic Jihad, a militant group with a large presence in Jenin, also praised the assault.

Israeli's internal security agency, the Shin Bet, identified the attacker as a Palestinian from the West Bank with no prior security record. Shabtai, the police chief, said that several people connected to the man were arrested but did not provide details.

Israel's hard-line national security minister, Itamar Ben-Gvir, rushed to the scene of attack. "We knew that terror would raise its head," he said. He praised the civilian for killing the attacker and called for arming more citizens with guns, as he was heckled by an angry onlooker. AP

REVERSING FUKUSHIMA'S EFFECT

IAEA approves Japan's plan to release treated radioactive water

TOKYO

THE UN nuclear agency gave its endorsement on Tuesday to Japan's planned release of treated radioactive wastewater into the sea from the damaged Fukushima nuclear plant, saying it meets international standards and its environmental and health impact would be negligible. The plan is opposed by groups in South Korea, China and some Pacific Island nations because of safety concerns and political reasons. Local fishing organisations are worried that their reputation will be damaged even if their catch isn't contaminated.

Rafael Mariano Grossi, the head of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), submitted its final assessment of the plan to Prime Minister Fumio Kishida on Tuesday.

The report is a "comprehensive, neutral, objective, scientifically sound evaluation," Grossi said. "We are very confident about it."

The report said IAEA recognises the discharge "has raised societal, political and environmental concerns, associated with the radiological aspects." However, it concluded that the water release as currently planned "will have a negligible radiological impact on people and the environment."

He said the dilution of treated but still slightly radioactive wastewater for gradual release into the sea is a proven method widely used in other countries, including China, South Korea, the United States and France, to dispose of water containing certain radionuclides from nuclear plants. Much of the Fukushima wastewater contains cesium and other radionuclides, but it will be filtered further to bring it below international standards for all but tritium, which is inseparable from water. It then will be diluted by 100 times with seawater before it is released. AP

Byju's promoters' holding fall by over 2/3rd to 21% in 7 years

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

EDTECH firm Byju's promoters' shareholding has been gradually dropping since 2016, and the first significant drop was between 2015-2016, when the promoters stake dipped from 71.6% to 54.7% and later came down to 34.7% in 2019 and 21.2% in 2023, according to market intelligence platform PrivateCircle Research.

Promoters-Byju Raveendran, Divya Gokulnath and Riju Ravindran have together sold shares worth around $408.53 million in 40 secondary transactions since 2015. While CEO and co-founder Byju Raveendran individually sold 29,306 shares worth $3.28 million, his wife and co-founder Divya Gokulnath sold 64,565 shares worth $29.40 million, and brother Riju Ravindran sold 337,911 shares worth $375.83 million.

These secondary deals were often executed at a discounted valuation as compared to the company's primary valuation at that time, says the report. An average of 53% discount was observed in secondary sales during its Series F round.

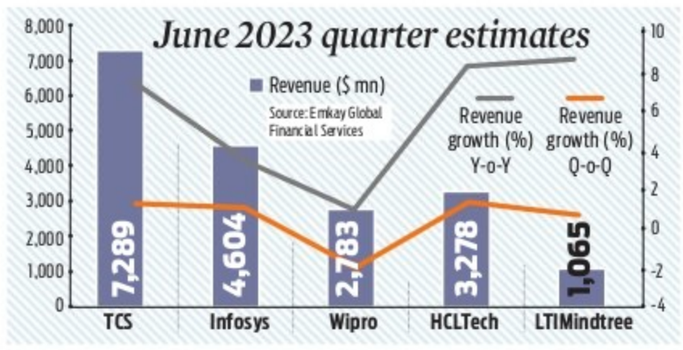
During this round, Byju's promoters sold their shares in the price range of ₹1,12,126 - ₹1,64,000 per share and the Series F primary share price was inthe range ₹2,13,042 - ₹2,37,336. Over the years, multiple investors participated in Byju's secondary transactions including Silver Lake Partners, Blackrock, T Rowe Price, Chan Zuckerberg, Owl Ventures, Naspers, General Atlantic, and Alkeon, among others.

The edtech company has been facing multiple challenges, and since 2012, Byju Raveendran purchased a total of 31,960 shares from multiple sellers including Ravindran Kunnaruvath (Byju Raveendran's father), Arunangshu Bhakta (Byju's employee), Brijesh Maheshbhai Patel (Byju's employee), Smit Rajanikant Patel (Byju's employee), Unique Jain (Byju's employee), and Pravin Prakash (Byju's employee), according to an analysis by PrivateCircle Research.

IT firms likely to see muted revenue growth in Q1FY24

Revenue may fall for Wipro, Tech Mahindra, and remain flat for TCS

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru



IT services companies will report their Q1FY24 financials starting with the country's largest IT services company Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) next week.

It is expected these companies will report softer revenue growth due to weaker discretionary spending, and pockets of weakness in mortgage, retail and telecom.

TCS chairman N Chandrasekaran in the company's annual general meeting said there will be volatility in different markets on customer spending in the nearby quarters. Despite these challenges, CEOs of IT companies recently said clients are focusing on cloud, Internet of Things (IoT) and generative AI (artificial intelligence).

Though June is a seasonally strong quarter, according to analysts, this time it will be an exception, revenue will decline for Wipro and Tech Mahindra, and it will be flat for TCS. Emkay Global Financial Services expects constant currency revenue growth of -2.3% to 1% for tier-1 companies and -1.6% to 3.4% for mid-cap companies.

It expects Infosys to retain its guidance of 4-7% constant currency revenue growth and 21-22% EBIT Margin for FY24. HCL Tech is also likely to retain its overall and services guidance of 6-8% and 6.5-8.5% constant currency year-on-year (YoY), respectively, and 18-19% EBIT margin for FY24. Wipro is likely to guide flat (-1 to 1%) in terms of constant currency quarter-on-quarter (QoQ) revenue growth for Q2FY24, Emkay Global said.

According to the report, the salary hike cycle will drag margin sequentially by 100 bps for TCS and 70 bps for Tech Mahindra.

Motilal Oswal Financial Services said deteriorating macro and wage hikes will impact IT companies' earnings. "Margins will see impacts from growth moderation and wage hikes in the range of -140bp to +30bp QoQ. However, easing supply pressure, cooling off attrition, and improving utilisation should help partially offset the impact," it said.

It further said there is a near-term weakness due to approval delays and heightened deal scrutiny, and these factors may result in project deferrals and temporary pauses in project execution. It does not anticipate a recovery in 2HFY24, and that the recovery is expected to be more gradual in nature and should occur only in FY25.

Kotak Institutional Equities concurred with the view that it will be a weak quarter for IT companies.

SRI LANKA

GETS FIRST TRANCHE OF WORLD BANK BUDGET SUPPORT

As part of the efforts to revive the bankrupt Sri Lankan economy, the island nation has received $250 million in the first tranche out of a $500 million World Bank budgetary and welfare support, an official statement said on Tuesday. Last week, the World Bank had announced that they approved $700 million in budgetary and welfare support to the debt-ridden country, which is going through its worst economic crisis since independence from the British in 1948. This was the biggest multilateral funding approved for Sri Lanka since the country struck a bailout deal with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) in March. The World Bank statement said about $500 million of the funds will be allocated for budgetary support while remaining $200 million will be for welfare support. When the economic crisis kicked in April 2022 it triggered widespread public protests. The World Bank's assistance allowed the country to end the cooking gas shortages.

ASIA

CURRENCIES INCH HIGHER

Most Asian emerging currencies rose on Tuesday, with Thai baht among the top gainers in the region, strengthened 0.4%. Malaysian ringgit, which is among the worst performing currencies in the region this year, firmed 0.1% on Tuesday. South Korea's won advanced 0.5% after data showed the country's consumer inflation hit a 21-month low. Chinese yuan jumped 0.2%, while the Singapore dollar and Indian rupee appreciated 0.1% each and Indonesia's rupiah was trading flat. According to Reuters poll, Malaysia's central bank will leave its key interest rate unchanged at 3.00% on Thursday and keep it there for the rest of the year. Asian currencies have not performed well this year due to various factors such as high inflation and slower economic growth.

INDONESIA

SEES LOWER 2023 BUDGET DEFICIT AT 2.28%

Indonesia's finance minister Mulyani Indrawati has said the country's budget deficit will be 2.28% of its gross domestic product (GDP) in 2023 as compared to its initial target of 2.84%, as a result of higher than expected revenues. The country has also projected state revenues in 2023 to reach 2,637.2 trillion rupiah ($175.58 billion) up 7.1% from the initial target. Indrawati in an Instagram post late on Monday said revenue growth will go up this year due to strong exports of commodities. The country's law has a budget deficit ceiling of 3% of GDP. The country's economy expanded 5% year-on-year in the first quarter of 2023. However, growth rate fell 0.92% on a quarter-on-quarter basis. However, the country's growth prospects look relatively upbeat as inflation edges closer to the central bank's 2-4% target.

Banking sector consolidation gathers pace

SACHIN KUMAR @ Mumbai

IDFC First Bank board approves amalgamation

The board of IDFC First Bank, on Tuesday, approved the scheme of amalgamation of IDFC Limited with IDFC First Bank. The proposed merger will consolidate the two entities into a single institution and simplify the corporate structure. Experts believe the mergers and acquisition in the financial services sector to continue

Days after completion of the mega-merger of HDFC Bank and mortgage lender HDFC, another private lender, IDFC First Bank, announced its merger with its parent firm IDFC.

While the last decade witnessed the mergers of public banks, the recent mergers underscore the consolidation gaining momentum in the private banking sector.

The board of IDFC First Bank, on Tuesday, approved the scheme of amalgamation of IDFC Limited with IDFC First Bank. The proposed merger will consolidate the two entities into a single institution and simplify the corporate structure.

IDFC Bank made its foray into the banking sector after IDFC Limited, an infrastructure financing institution, received banking licence from the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) in 2014. In 2018, IDFC Bank and Capital First announced the completion of the merger to become IDFC First Bank.

"IDFC's proposed merger with IDFC Bank, on the line of the reverse merger of the parent HDFC Ltd with HDFC Bank indicates the consolidation happening in the Indian banking system. This is a healthy development," said V K Vijayakumar, Chief Investment Strategist at Geojit Financial Services.

Earlier in March, Equitas Small Finance Bank (SFB) completed its reverse merger with its holding company Equitas Holdings. As per RBI regulations, holding companies are allowed to reduce stakes below 40 percent after five years of operations.

Experts believe the mergers and acquisition in the financial services sector to continue as it would help them to get capital and increase their reach new customers.

"With these mergers, the banks aim to leverage economies of scale. The merger brings additional capital and geographical reach which is needed to face the competition which would only get fierce in the coming years," a banking analyst told this newspaper.

Last year, Shriram Capital, the holding company of the Shriram Group, and Shriram City Union Finance were merged with Shriram Transport Finance, and the merged entity was named Shriram Finance.

The recent mergers highlight the trend of consolidation happening in private banks and follow mergers of public banks in the previous decade. Aiming to create big and well capitalised banks, the government in 2019, announced a mega-merger of 10 public banks into four.

Senco Gold public issue subscribed 69% on 1st day

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE initial public offer (IPO) of jewellery retail player Senco Gold was subscribed 69% on the first day of subscription on Tuesday.

The ₹405 crore IPO received bids for 65,28,018 shares against 94,18,603 shares on offer, according to NSE data.

The quota for retail individual investors (RIIs) received 1.12 times the subscription and the category for non-institutional investors got subscribed 62%. The IPO has a fresh issue of up to ₹270 crore and an offer for sale of up to ₹135 crore. The IPO has a price range of ₹301-317 a share. Senco Gold Ltd on Monday said it has mobilised ₹121.5 crore from anchor investors. Of the ₹270 crore, the company proposes to use ₹196 crore of net proceeds from fresh issue towards funding working capital requirements and remaining for general corporate purposes.

The Kolkata-based firm has 140 showrooms across 13 states and 63 % of them are located in West Bengal. It also sells its products through various online platforms and undertakes wholesale exports of its jewellery, primarily to Dubai, Malaysia and Singapore.

IIFL Securities, Ambit Private Ltd and SBI Capital Markets are managers to the offer. The company's equity shares are proposed to be listed on the BSE and NSE.

JUDGEMENT

'RBI decision on ₹2000 notes not demonetisation'

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

THE Delhi High Court on Tuesday said till the time ₹2000 banknotes continue to be a legal tender, the RBI's direction to banks not to issue ₹2000 banknotes from its currency chests or request to public for depositing it without any restriction is not a 'decision of demonetisation.'

A division bench of Chief Justice Satish Chandra Sharma and Justice Subramonium Prasad observed the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) direction doesn't mean that ₹2000 currency notes will be demonitised from September 23 this year while rejecting a plea challenging the apex bank's decision.

"The fact that the permission to exchange ₹2000 notes is available only till 23.09.2023 doesn't mean RBI has issued a direction that from 23.09.2023 ₹2000 banknotes will be demonetised. The RBI, therefore, has not exceeded the powers conferred on it under the RBI Act or has not violated the Banking Regulation Act, 1949," the order said.

The bench said the central bank has not taken any decision on discontinuance of ₹2000 notes and it was well within its power to issue the notification, which is only a part of the currency management system.

".. It is not a decision to demonetise ₹2000 bank notes and this circular is only a direction to the banks to desist from issuing ₹2000 notes to its customers and to ensure that no withdrawal of ₹2000 notes is allowed from the banks holding currency chests," the high court said.

B'luru records high sale of commercial units; Metro boosts sales

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

BENGALURU'S real estate market has been thriving, with office space leasing up by 3 per cent, as compared to H2 2022. The city's residential market was also reported to be steady, registering 26,247 units in sales during H1 2023, said Knight Frank India's latest report.

Breaking records, the IT capital made the highest 27 per cent transactions for offices across eight cities. The report highlighted the growing demand for flex spaces as companies, especially the IT/ITeS and startup ecosystem, are opting for coworking and managed offices as a revenue-saving mechanism.

This time, commercial sales were dominated by Bengaluru's market flex working spaces (41%), Global Capacity Centres (29%) and India-facing and third-party IT services accounted for 15% of each. Despite the fund crunch and work-from-home policies, the city recorded the highest renting and sale of office space of 7mn sqft in H1 2023. The half-yearly India Real Estate Residential and Office Market H1 - 2023 report highlighted the residential and office market performance across eight major cities for January-June 2023.

Home sales steady

The city's house sales saw a 2 per cent degrowth from 2022. The slowdown in sales was attributed to growing demand, and inability to keep up with ready-to-move inventory. Homebuyers are favouring luxury lifestyles and bigger apartments, given the improvement in economic conditions.

"In the past 6 months, the city's maximum home sales came from South Bengaluru (39%) maintaining its dominance. Sales were driven because of important tech parks, startup centres and employment clusters in and around Koramangala, Electronics City and Outer Ring Road," the report said.

East Bengaluru maintained sales at 31 per cent, being the prime IT hub with numerous large-scale tech parks in Whitefield, ITPL and Mahadevapura. The KR Puram to Whitefield Metro has played a big role in sales, as it helps in connectivity to other parts of the city. According to the report, North Bengaluru too recorded good sales of 5,978 units in the quarter.

Shantanu Mazumder, executive director, Bengaluru, at Knight Frank India said, "In the first half of 2023, Bengaluru's home market remained resilient and continued to expand despite a number of obstacles like rising borrowing prices, a volatile job market and higher construction expenses. Despite price increases, affordability is still very high, which will underpin demand for the rest of the year."

Royal Enfield to face competition from Harley x440

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

India's largest two-wheeler maker Hero MotoCorp and American legacy brand Harley-Davidson's co-developed mid-size bike is likely to challenge the might of Royal Enfield in the mid-size segment as the impact of x440 launch was seen in Eicher Motors shares, which witnessed one of its worst selling sessions in recent times on Tuesday.

Shares of Eicher Motors, the parent company of Royal Enfield, cracked over 6% to end Tuesday at ₹3,411 a piece. Hero MotoCorp shares, on the other other hand, gained 5% to close at ₹3,035. "Harley Hero x440 is launched at a competitive price, which is below expectation and surprised positively. Given Harley Davidsons brand image and competitive pricing at which the product was launched, X440 could be a strong contender in premium segment and has all the ingredients to garner good market share," said Himanshu Singh- Research Analyst, Prabhudas Lilladher.

Singh added that the biggest loser could be Eicher Motor given at near-monopoly market share in premium segment. The impact on volume would depend on how fast Hero and Harley can attract buyers and how RE responds to the competition. But, we are seeing increased competition for royal Enfield and this could be an overhang on Eicher Motors share price," said Singh.

Hero and Harley launched their co-developed premium motorcycle – the Harley-Davidson X440 in India late Monday night at a starting price of ₹2.29 lakh lakhs. Currently, Royal Enfield has a market share of about 90% in 250-350 cc segment and it dominates the 350-650 cc segment.

Owing to high demand for RE bikes, this segment is attracting eyeballs of rival bike makers such as Honda 2wheelers, Hero MotorCorp and Bajaj Auto, which in partnership with Britain's Triumph is expected to launch its mid-size bike soon. Pawan Munjal, executive Chairman, Hero MotoCorp, said, "The motorcycle brings best of the iconic Harley-Davidson's signature elements with manufacturing expertise and trusted quality of Hero. Together, we aim to create a unique value proposition for customers in the Indian market and target a wider range of motorcycle enthusiasts."

Sitharaman to review public sector banks' performance on Thursday

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Thursday (July 6) will meet the heads of public sector banks (PSBs) to take stock of their overall performance.

She will review the credit growth, asset quality, capital requirement and their overall profitability. Besides this, she will also take feedback about the various government schemes, including Kisan Credit Card (KCC), Stand-Up India, Pradhan Mantri Mudra Yojana (PMMY) and emergency credit line guarantee scheme (ECLGS) to help businesses impacted by Covid-19.

This is the first review meeting by Sitharaman in current fiscal after the review of FY23 financial results of banks.

"Finance minister will also discuss the bad loan situation in banking sector. Though there has been a significant improvement in asset quality of banks, but there are some sectors like gems and jewellery, textiles, construction and food processing which need attention," a top official told this newspaper.

As per the Financial Stability Report of the RBI, the gross non-performing assets (GNPA) of the scheduled commercial banks fell to a 10-year low of 3.9 % in March 2023. These are likely to decrease further to 3.6% by March 2024, as per its report. The RBI conducted stress tests to assess the resilience of SCBs, which revealed that they are well capitalised and are capable of absorbing macroeconomic shocks.

Meanwhile, FM chaired a review meeting on the implementation of various Budget announcements with Secretary, Department of Economic Affairs, Disinvestment Secretary, Banking Secretary, Corporate Affairs Secretary and other senior officials of the Finance Ministry in New Delhi on Tuesday.

Chaturvedula new India head of Walmart Global Tech

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

WALMART Global Tech, the technology arm of Walmart, has appointed Balu Chaturvedula as its new country head for India.

Chaturvedula recently served as vice President, Supply Chain Technology for Walmart's US Omni Tech organisation.

He succeeds Hari Vasudev, who will transition to a global role in Bentonville, Arkansas as executive vice President, Global Tech Platforms, the company said in a statement.

"Balu's vast technical expertise and tenure as a Walmart leader will benefit our efforts as a people-led, tech-powered omnichannel retailer," said Suresh Kumar, Executive Vice President, Global Chief Technology Officer and Chief Development Officer, Walmart Inc.

Chaturvedula joined Walmart in 2015, and during his tenure, he played a vital role in building the fulfilment technology. With nearly three decades of experience in the tech industry, Balu has played an integral role in nurturing the supply chain talent in India.

Prior to Walmart, Chaturvedula has worked with organisations such as HP, Yahoo! and Motorola. Balu holds an engineering degree from the University of Madras and an executive management degree from UC Berkeley.

Neymar fined $3.3 mn for illegal artificial lake at mansion

Brazilian soccer star Neymar was fined more than $3.3 million for violating local environmental rules during renovations at his mansion in the city of Mangaratiba outside Rio. The Mangaratiba city hall said in a statement it had issued four fines totalling about 16 million Brazilian reals after Neymar was accused of illegally building an artificial lake at his mansion.

A night to remember for Blue Tigers

Kuwait's missed spot-kick in sudden death gives hosts, who trailed before finding the equaliser, ninth SAFF title

VISHNU PRASAD @ Bengaluru

Indian players lift captain Sunil Chhetri after the SAFF Championships final against Kuwait in Bengaluru | VINOD KUMAR T

IN sport, sometimes you can see things happening before they actually happen. When Kuwait's Khaled Hajiah stepped up to take the sixth penalty of the shootout that the SAFF Championships final had boiled down to, the Sree Kanteerava Stadium could tell that he was not going to score. Sure enough, his shot only found a diving Gurpreet Singh Sandhu. The shootouts had ended 5-4 and India were SAFF Cup champions once again.

An exciting 90 minutes ended 1-1 with Lallianzuala Chhangte and Shabaib Alkhaldi scoring for their respective sides. Extra time too passed without any further change to the scoreline. With a packed Kanteerava — a crowd of 26380 had turned up — roaring India on, the Blue Tigers always had the edge. Sunil Chhetri, Sandesh Jhingan, Chhangte, Subhasish Bose and Naorem Mahesh Singh scored while Udanta Singh registered India's lone miss. India's defence may have received a lot of plaudits before the game, but Kuwait's opener looked a bit too easy. In the 14the minute, a pass from midfield found Abdullah Albloushi, who had slipped in unnoticed behind the Indian defence. It was the Kuwait right-back who had done the damage to India in the group game, his cross deflected into the net by Anwar Ali. Albloushi turned India's tormentor again as his cross across the face of goal left Alkhaldi with a simple tap-in. To India's credit, they did not let the goal dampen their spirited start to the game and almost replied in kind. Chhetri tested Kuwaiti keeper Abdulrahman Marzouq with a stinging shot that the latter failed to hold on to. It almost fell into the onrushing Chhangte's path, but Kuwait managed to put the ball out. Marzouq was called into action again from the subsequent corner as Thapa tested him from a narrow angle.

For all India's fight, the pendulum slowly looked to be swinging Kuwait's way. They were beginning to hoard possession as India began to make mistakes on the pitch. The Blue Tigers were dealt another blow just around the half-hour mark as Anwar Ali — India's best defender throughout the tournament — left the field with a hamstring injury.

But then came the moment that restored all of India's lost momentum. Ashique Kuruniyan did some excellent work down the left before finding Chhetri. The Indian captain released Sahal with just the goalkeeper to beat but the Kerala Blasters midfielder chose to find Chhangte. All the latter had to do was tap into an empty net.

Kuwait regained some of their momentum in the second half as they launched multiple attacks. For all their endeavour though, they never quite managed to test Gurpreet Singh Sandhu. Chhangte had a chance to give India the lead just around the hour mark. A clearance from the Kuwait keeper Marzouq found its way to Jeakson Singh in midfield. His cross was nodded on by Chhetri into Chhangte's path. With only the keeper to beat, the Mumbai City forward could only muster a feeble shot.

There was a late scare for India with just seconds left on the clock when Mohammad Abdullah found himself with a clear sight on goal. But his low shot was parried away by Gurpreet. India had their own late chance when substitute Rohit Kumar's cross from the right flashed across goal, evading everyone.

Kuwait resorted to a long-ball game in extra time with their pacey wingers attempting to get behind India's midfield and latch on to passes from the midfield. However, the most that came out of it were a couple of corners which India defended.

The final chance went to Chhangte with just a couple of minutes left. After receiving the ball from Nikhil Poojary, Chhangte blazed just over. Then came the lottery that was the penalty shootout and it turned out to be India's night.

IOA plans formula to plug irregularities

THERE have been a number of instances when the functioning of the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) has not been too smooth. From appointing the steering committee and, later, the two members in an ad hoc panel of the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI), inaction over wrestlers' protests and of course, to the more serious offence of not appointing a chief executive officer, IOA has been under the scanner for all the wrong reasons. Going by a recent circular, there seems to be certain discrepancies in securing contracts that have come to the notice of the IOA president.

It is understood that non-appointment of a CEO has complicated matters. According to the IOA constitution, the CEO has substantial financial powers. But the complication is because whether an acting CEO (joint secretary is the one holding post right now) has the same powers? Because there is no CEO, it is believed that there is ambiguity on processes to be followed. There has been an instance when members were not comfortable when a company formed just three days (December 7) before the IOA elections apparently entered into a contract with the IOA for certain events.

It is understood that the IOA wants the system to be process driven rather than being a personality driven organisation. In fact, a new circular of the IOA president points towards such financial discrepancies. "In the recent past, it has come to my attention that certain decisions/contracts have been executed without the written approval of the competent authority. This advisory aims to provide guidance in accordance with the current Financial Regulations to ensure responsible financial management," said a letter sent to IOA's executive council members. The letter also highlighted the need to "conduct a comprehensive evaluation of the organization or individual involved. This evaluation should include a review of their financial stability, reputation, past performance, and adherence to ethical standards." The letter also said that competitive bidding process should be adhered to. "Implement a transparent and competitive bidding process for significant contracts. And also "clearly define the evaluation criteria, such as expertise, track record, financial viability, value for money and compliance with IOA's objectives and values".

It is understood that not many were happy with the remuneration the returning officer for the WFI is expected to be drawing. Some say it is around ₹20 lakh, while some believe there is no such figure mentioned in the letter sent to the RO that's why it can be any amount. What seems interesting as of now is IOA is apparently disbursing the amount to ad hoc committee of WFI for day to day activities and even election expenditure. However, it needs to be seen if WFI reimburse the amount to IOA.

The IOA in another letter has listed out the powers and responsibilities of the treasurer, which indicates that he too seemed to have been ignored in certain matters. "The treasurer is responsible for maintaining accurate records of income, expenses, and assets and for presenting regular financial reports to the EC and the general assembly."

Alcaraz starts title bid in ruthless mood

AGENCIES @ London

CARLOS Alcaraz made a confident start to his bid for a first Wimbledon title as the world number one routed French veteran Jeremy Chardy on Tuesday.

Alcaraz's emphatic 6-0, 6-2, 7-5 first round victory underlined his status as the main challenger to reigning champion Novak Djokovic.

The 20-year-old, who has five titles to his name already this season, is in fine form after winning his maiden grass-court trophy at Queen's Club last month. Although Alcaraz, who won the US Open last year, sits top of the world rankings, Djokovic is the man to beat as he chases an eighth Wimbledon title.

The Spaniard is seeded to meet World No 2 Djokovic in a blockbuster final at the All England Club. Alcaraz, who made the last 16 at Wimbledon in 2022, was just five when Chardy played his first match at the tournament in 2008.

Chardy, a former Wimbledon junior champion, will retire from singles tournaments after this year's event.

Agarkar becomes chief selector

GOMESH S @ Chennai

FORMER India all-rounder Ajit Agarkar has been appointed chairman of the senior men's selection committee, the Indian cricket board (BCCI) announced on Tuesday. He will be the second person from West Zone to be on the panel along with Salil Ankola with no representation from North Zone. Subroto Banerjee (Central Zone), S Sharath (South) and SS Das (East) are the other selectors in the panel.

"The Cricket Advisory Committee (CAC), consisting of Ms Sulakshana Naik, Mr Ashok Malhotra, and Mr Jatin Paranjape, interviewed applicants for the position of one selector in the Men's Selection Committee. The three-member CAC has unanimously recommended Mr Ajit Agarkar for the said position," BCCI secretary Jay Shah said in a media release.

With 191 ODIs, 26 Tests and 4 T20Is to his name, Agarkar has been a part of three ODI World Cups and the 2007 T20 World Cup when India won the title.

The former all-rounder is expected to get a better salary as opposed to the current slab of ₹1 crore kept for the chairman of selectors. His first assignment is likely to be picking the T20I squad for the tour of West Indies.

Nooshin interim coach for Bangladesh tour

After the successful Emerging Asia Cup in Hong Kong, former India cricketer Nooshin Al Khadeer is set to travel with the senior women's team for Bangladesh as interim head coach. Although it has been reported that Amol Muzumdar is set to take over as head coach of women's team, for the Bangladesh tour that begins on July 9, Nooshin will be acting as the interim coach as the board takes time to officially announce the head coach. Along with Nooshin, Apurva Desai, Rajib Dutta, Shalini Mantravadi, Mala Rangaswamy and Akanksha Satyavanshi will be travelling with the team as support staff for the series.

Dhull India A captain for Emerging Asia Cup

NEW DELHI: Ignored for Duleep Trophy after a poor first-class season, Yash Dhull on Tuesday was named captain of the India A team for the Emerging Asia Cup One Day tournament in Sri Lanka from July 13 to 23. The team comprised primarily U-23 players as requisite for the Emerging tournaments and Dhull's deputy will be Punjab's Abhishek Sharma.

Swimmer Rujuta breaks 20-year-old nat'l record

AGENCIES @ Hyderabad

MAHARASHTRA'S Rujuta Khade stole the limelight, obliterating a 20-year-old national mark while Aryan Nehra continued his record-breaking spree at swimming nationals here on Tuesday. Rujuta clocked 26.47s to win the gold in the 50m women's free-style event ahead of state mate Anannya Nayak, who timed 26.64s while Karanataka's Nina Venkatesh touched the pads at 26.73s to take home the bronze. In the process, Rujuta shattered the earlier national record of 26.61s that stood in Shikha Tandon's name since 2003.

Rujuta's husband, 2010 Asian Games bronze medallist Virdhawal Khade won the 50m men's freestyle — the fastest race at the ongoing meet. The 22.82s time wasn't Virdhawal's best but the seasoned swimmer still managed to finish ahead of youngsters Mihir Ambre (22.96) and AS Anand (23.30) who clinched the silver and bronze medals respectively.

Aryan, meanwhile, continued to go about his business as he rewrote yet another record in the 1500m free-style for men.

He timed 15:29.76 and such was his domination that the second-placed swimmer — national record holder Delhi's Kushagra Rawat (15:45.62) finished over 15s behind the Gujarat swimmer.

Advait Page, who holds the 'Best Indian Time' of 15:23.66 in the event, was even slower, finishing with a time of 16:07.27.

Gloveman Het out to fulfill father's dream

GOMESH S @ Chennai

IT was the 2022 Duleep Trophy final between South Zone and West Zone at Coimbatore. On a surface that had some extra bounce, South Zone pacers had run through West top-order before spinner R Sai Kishore took command. Up against Shreyas Iyer and Sarfaraz Khan, the Tamil Nadu left-arm spinner, showed his class, dismissing Shreyas.

In came, Gujarat wicketkeeper-batter Het Patel. Even as he was trying to settle in, Sai Kishore showed his class, reducing West from 99/4 to 167/8. However, the one person who remained unclutered through all this was Het. With experienced Jaydev Unadkat for company, he would go on to lift West Zone to 270. Although he missed his ton by four runs, Het had made a mark.

A year on, nothing much has changed for Het as he is set to take the field for West Zone in the Duleep Trophy semifinal against Central Zone on Wednesday at Alur. If anything, with Rishabh Pant's injury, the role of wicketkeeper-batter has become the talking point, especially in red-ball cricket. If there was ever a situation to make the most for the keepers in the domestic circuit, this is the season. However, Het is not thinking about all that at the moment. "I am trying to focus on what I have to do and improve to contribute to the team. The rest will happen accordingly," Het tells this daily.

One look at his first-class numbers — 945 runs in 22 innings with an average of 45 — it might not be something that turns heads. But there is more to him. For someone who started out as a medium-pacer, Het took up the gloves when he was 12 after realising that he might not be tall enough to make an impact as a pacer, and has grown from strength to strength since. He was a part of the India U19 Asia Cup side in 2016-17, playing alongside the likes of Shubman Gill and Prithvi Shaw; made his list-A debut for Gujarat in the same season under Parthiv Patel, who took him under his wing.

In red-ball, however, he had to bide his time. And when the chance came after the pandemic in 2022, the right-hander grabbed it with both hands. He amassed 429 runs for Gujarat in three Ranji games that year, and followed it up with a stellar show in Duleep Trophy. While he was not able to build on the momentum in last year's Ranji Trophy, Het is aware of the significance of contributing with the bat as a keeper. It comes as no surprise, for it was his father Jignesh Patel who put a bat in his hand as early as when he was three. "It is his dream for me to become a cricketer. Whatever I am today is because of him," says Het.

Spain, Germany tours will serve as Asiad prep: Hockey coach

KALYANI MANGALE @ Chennai

HOCKEY India (HI) on Tuesday announced the 20-member women's squad for the upcoming tours of Germany and Spain. Both events will act as a preparation for the team ahead of the 2023 Asian Games.

Jyoti Chhatri, who impressed during India's victory in the women's Junior Asia Cup, earned a senior call-up, with Janneke Schopman praising the young Odisha midfielder. "Our core group is getting stronger. Jyoti is very talented. (We will see) what she would bring to the senior team at that highest level," the coach said during a press conference.

Chattri was part of the 33-player senior national camp, rubbing shoulders with captain Savita Punia and fellow midfielder Salima Tete. "Before she went to the Asia Cup, she was part of the camp with the senior team. At that time, we saw her talent. She is good in both attack and defense. As a senior player, we are happy to see players come up the ranks. The competition keeps us on our toes," Punia added.

India will play three Tests, one against China and two against Germany, in Frankfurt from 16 to 19 July 2023. In Spain, they will feature in an invitational meet, also featuring South Africa, and England from 25 July.

Janneke Schopman

With Hangzhou 2023 around the corner, Schopman believes these tours will present a development opportunity. "I have told the team that this is not necessarily the case that the people that go now on tour will all make it to the Asian Games or that someone that didn't make it for this tour is not going to China," Schopman insisted.

After heartbreak in the 2018 edition in Indonesia, where India lost to Japan in the final, Punia hopes to go one step further and bag India's first gold in the event since 1982. The journey towards that will start with these tours "We are eager to play against the good teams. Spain and England are among the top teams in the world. We get the opportunity to improve our game, match-by-match, when we play against these teams.

"We have improved immensely over the last few years and we are enjoying competing with the top-ranked teams. Whether it's penalty corners or shots on goal, we are getting on par with them. The mindset change with the help of the coach has helped us a lot," Punia added.

PGTI in Chennai from August 16

CHENNAI: The second half of the Professional Golf Tour of India (PGTI) returns with the inaugural India Cements Pro Championship at the TNGF Cosmo Golf Course at Chennai. Slated to be held from August 16, the four-day event is a `50 lakh tournament. While there was a PGTI event in Chennai last year as well, that one had a different sponsor. After the championship in Chennai, the caravan moves to Coimbatore for a `1 crore meet from August 22. The season-ending TATA Steel Tour Championship will be held at Jamshedpur from December 21.

WHAT IS A GRAVITATIONAL WAVE?
A gravitational wave is an invisible wave moving as a ripple through space at the speed of light. These are energy-carrying waves moving through gravitational fields produced when massive bodies like a star or black holes get accelerated, disturbed or collide with each other. These waves squeeze and stretch anything in their path as they pass by.
SPACE-TIME
In physics, spacetime is a mathematical model that combines the three dimensions of space and one dimension of time into a single four-dimensional manifold. Spacetime diagrams can be used to visualize relativistic effects, such as why different observers perceive differently where and when events occur.
WHAT CAUSES RIPPLES IN SPACE-TIME?
As per General Relativity theory, when objects like neutron stars or black holes accelerate, get disturbed or collide, they emit radiation outwards due to their gravity fields. These outward radiations are gravitational waves that cause ripples in space-time.

A 'TSUNAMI' THROUGH MILKY WAY GALAXY

Scientists have found the biggest-ever gravitational wave passing through the Milky Way Galaxy

It all started with "hearing something". Then they suspected it was the "music of the Universe"...And ended up detecting the most powerful gravitational waves passing through the Milky Way, the galaxy which hosts our Solar System, which Earth is a part of.

Astrophysicists at the North American Nanohertz Observatory for Gravitational Waves (NANOGrav) have detected space-time distortions caused by so far the biggest gravitational wave ever detected — so big, that the distance between two adjoining crests of the gravitational wave shrinks and expands from two light years to ten lightyears. That is a range from nine trillion kilometres to 90 trillion kilometres, according to the new study by a team of researchers with the US National Science Foundation's NANOGrav Physics Frontiers Centre, published on June 29 in The Astrophysical Journal Letters.

The distortions in space are the effects of space-time warping due to the gravitational waves passing through the universe. Space-time is a physical reality consisting of three dimensions in space (3D) and one dimension of time to make it a four-dimensional model in the Theory of Special Relativity.

The researchers began by analysing burned-out stars, called millisecond pulsars. Pulsars are rotating neutron stars observed to have pulses of radiation at very regular intervals, typically ranging from milliseconds to seconds. Pulsars have very strong magnetic fields which funnel jets of particles out along the two magnetic poles. The millisecond pulsars rotate hundreds of times per second and emit radio pulses like ticks from highly accurate cosmic clocks.

The scientists created a "detector" of 67 pulsars across space. They deducted it was a gravitational wave background causing the distortion of space. The team discovered what appeared to be variations in the ticking rate of such pulsars by comparing observations of more than 60 pulsars within radio telescope data spanning 15 years. That led to evidence of the biggest gravitational wave distorting the fabric of physical reality of space-time.

Albert Einstein first predicted gravitational waves in 1916. But they remained hypothetical until 2015 when the US-based Laser Interferometer Gravitational-Wave Observatory detected grav waves. Its spatial distortion was smaller than the nucleus of an atom. Compared to that, the NANOGrav-detected grav wave flexing of space-time was as big as an American football field.

HOW THEY FOUND IT

- The team analysed burned-out stars known as millisecond pulsars,
- Thes pulsars rotate hundreds of times per second, emitting highly accurate radio pulse ticks.
- The scientists detected variations in these otherwise uniform and consistent radio pulse ticks.
- They compared the data with observation of 60 pulsars with radio telescope data collected over 15 years
- They found surefire indicators that it was a gravitational wave causing these variations.
- They measured the space-time flexing due to the distortion caused by the wave to be the size of an American football field, the biggest so far.

MICRO THRILL

BACTERIAL EXCITEMENT OVER EXTRATERRESTRIAL POSSIBILITIES

Deep down in the undersea vents, the researchers have discovered magnetotactic bacteria, which were normally only found in shallow waters or on land. This has raised excitement among scientists as deep-sea hydrothermal vents attract attention not only as the birthplace of unique underwater life, but also as a potential analogous habitat for extraterrestrial life — especially on Martian terrain.The environment where the researchers sampled the bacteria is similar to what they think Mars was like when there was still flowing water on its surface, about 3 billion years ago. Deep-sea hydrothermal vents attract attention not only as the birthplace of unique underwater life, but also as a potential analogous habitat for extraterrestrial life, the researchers say, justifying their excitement about this finding. In September 2012, a team including researchers from University of Tokyo embarked on a scientific ocean cruise to the southern Mariana Trough in the western Pacific Ocean. Using a remotely operated underwater vehicle named HYPER-DOLPHIN, they collected a "chimney" from a hydrothermal vent field 2,787 meters underwater. Hydrothermal vents are formed when seawater percolates underground, eventually becoming superheated — up to 400 degrees Celsius — by magma which causes it to boil back up. The erupting water deposits minerals and metals into the ocean which layer up to form chimneys, providing a warm, rich habitat for a unique life, including this magnetotactic bacteria. These organisms contain magnetosomes, iron crystals wrapped in a membrane, which align with Earth's magnetic field and point the bacteria like a compass. This causes the bacteria to travel in the direction of Earth's magnetic field lines leading north or south, like trains on a magnetic track.

NEW WAY TO REDUCE MERCURY LEVELS IN SULPHURIC ACID

Stockholm: Sulphuric acid is the world's most used chemical. It is an important reagent used in most industries. It is therefore a challenge that sulphuric acid often contains the toxic substance 'mercury'. Researchers at Chalmers University of Technology, Sweden, have now developed a way tro reduce the levels of mercury in sulphuric acid by more than 90 per cent – even from low levels.

VIDYA BALAN, WHO WAS IN THE CITY FOR THE PROMOTION OF HER NEW MOVIE, NEEYAT, SPEAKS ABOUT HER CHARACTER MIRA RAO, WORKING WITH DIRECTOR ANU MENON, AND OTHER FUN FACTS ABOUT THE FILM

'I DIDN'T HAVE THE BODY CONFIDENCE THAT I HAVE TODAY'

PIC: NAGARAJA GADEKAL

MONIKA MONALISA

IF you were lucky, you might have just spotted Bollywood actor Vidya Balan taking a stroll with her family on Residency Road recently. "People may have seen me on the streets of Bengaluru because we went off to Karavalli for lunch with family. Then, we walked across the street to Corner House for ice cream," says Balan, as she scrolls through pictures taken in front of a graffiti wall on Church Street from the day out. "My sister and brother-in-law used to live in Bengaluru, so these are old hangouts," she says.

This jaunt was on her visit to the city for the promotion of her upcoming movie, Neeyat, where Balan plays the role of detective Mira Rao, who is decoding a murder mystery. Set in the Scottish countryside with an uncanny resemblance to Glass Onion: A Knives out Mystery, it won't be surprising if audiences compare Mira Rao to Daniel Craig's Benoit Blanc. But Balan affirms that director Anu Menon has made a clear distinction between the two. "Mira Rao is not a classic detective. She does not have that flamboyance and style that one might associate with detectives. Instead, she is socially awkward and is a geek. But she is extremely sharp but shy," explains Balan, who also played the role of an aspiring detective in Bobby Jassos.

While she gives most of the credit for creating Mira Rao to director Menon, Balan's own curiosity has also seeped into the character. "People-watching is my favourite thing to do," says Balan.

This is the second time she is working with Menon, the first one being in Shakuntala Devi (2020), based on the renowned mathematician. "That's my other connection with the city. Shakuntala Devi was from here and the movie received so much love from the city," she quickly inserts into the conversation and proceeds to speak fondly of Menon. "For me, the interesting thing about Anu [Menon] is you can't predict what she will do next. Her last movie was Shankuntala Devi and then she did Neeyat. So you can't box her into one category," says Balan.

Known to be confident in her skin, Balan is idolised by many. "There is a certain part of me that has always been confident. I didn't have the body confidence that I have today. That is work-in-progress, but I think the confidence comes from the way I was brought up. My sister and I were never compared to anyone," concludes Balan.

De-coding co-stars

Neeyat has a long list of stars – Ram Kapoor, Rahul Bose, Niki Aneja Walia Dipannita Sharma, Shashank Arora, Shahana Goswami, Neeraj Kabi, Prajakta Kohli and Amrita Puri. Vidya Balan spills the beans about her co-stars in the movie

Who had most of the gossip?
Niki Aneja Walia. Her gossip came from nostalgia since she has worked in different mediums of entertainment

The most stylish?
Rahul Bose

Who was the foodie?
Ram Kapoor. He always talks about different kinds of food

Most social media savvy?
Dipannita Sharma

Mira Rao is not a classic detective. She does not have that flamboyance... Instead, she is socially-awkward and is a geek. But she is extremely sharp but shy

- Vidya Balan, actor

And the prankster?
That's Me

Fun Fact

Vidya Balan will be seen in one costume throughout the film. Did she miss trying out different looks? "Not at all," she exclaims. "And it was so cold, so no changes kept me warm. There were three copies of the same costume but I preferred one piece," she adds.

On her birthday today, we catch up with ace badminton player PV Sindhu on dreaming big, tackling challenges and the significance of sports

Courting success

RESHMI CHAKRAVORTY

IT is very important to know about menstruation. Get educated and think about it. Then you can't be scared about anything. Talking about menstruation is normal," says PV Sindhu, internationally-acclaimed badminton champion and the brand ambassador of Stayfree, a menstrual hygiene brand at a meet-and-greet hosted recently. Sindhu is considered one of India's most successful sportspersons, having made history by becoming the first Indian woman to win two consecutive Olympic medals at Rio in 2016 and Tokyo in 2020, respectively. Excerpts from a candid conversation.

What are your big dreams?
There are a lot of dreams. And of course one would only achieve greater heights and become successful in life. But I think to achieve that everybody needs to work hard and be smarter. It's very important to stay happy, be confident and be unstoppable. Things like menstruation shouldn't stop you from doing anything.

What made you fall in love with badminton?
It was my own interest. I started playing this sport and my parents supported me. I'm very thankful that they encouraged me and supported me in whatever I wanted to do. And of course, from that point of time, I've never looked back and have just been aiming higher, achieving my dreams and being successful in what I do. I feel this is only the beginning and a way to go on.

How's the journey been for you?
Definitely a roller coaster. Since 2016, my life has changed a lot. Five years down the line it was completely different and now if you talk about it, it's completely different – so definitely a good roller coaster, but I've learned and experienced a lot, even from my mistakes.

How do you come back after a really bad day at work?
Life is all about ups and downs. Sometimes you might be really good, sometimes it might not be your day. And of course, every day is not your day. You can't play everything right. So it's important to understand that it is alright to do this and we need to understand that there are a lot more chances in life and when you do this, it's not just the end of the world. You will learn from your mistakes. And it is also important to bounce back stronger, come back stronger, and learn from your mistakes. And I've learned from my mistakes and I've come back stronger because every day is a learning process. And how much ever you achieve, how much ever you have been successful, I think every day is a new day, every day you keep learning.

If you have to share any particular memorable match, what would that be?
Well, there are a lot of matches. I think my first match was when I won my under 10, after that I think most memorable one would be my first medal and World Championships in 2013 and of course, the Olympics where my life has changed a lot. The 2019 World Championships also where I got the gold for the country and 2021 Tokyo.

It is very important to know about menstruation. Get educated and think about it. Then you can't be scared about anything. Talking about menstruation is normal

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

HE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1. Statues are not just political symbols, they are great works of art and cultural markers of history too. The cityscape of Bengaluru is dotted with some of the iconic statues of kings, queens, dewans, statesmen, philanthropists, poets, philosophers and eminent personalities who contributed to the development of the city installed at different timelines. Most significant of all is the statue of Hiriya Kempegowda, the chieftain-visionary who founded the city unveiled by Jayachamaraja Wodeyar, the last ruling Maharaja of Mysore in 1964, ideally located at a prominent junction/circle in front of the city corporation offices. Name the iconic church located near the statue which has lent its name to the circle.

2. The equestrian statue of Chamarajendra Wodeyar who ruled the Kingdom of Mysore from 1868 to 1894 was originally installed at Curzon Park in Mysuru was later shifted to its current location in Bangalore in 1908. The life-size equestrian statue painted in metallic black is installed on a 10-feet-high pedestal flanked by symbolic Greco-Roman sculptures on either side. Name the iconic garden in the city where the statue is located.

3. Chhatrapati Shivaji, founder of the mighty Maratha empire, had a significant connection with Bengaluru. As a 12-year-old, he had spent his childhood around the early 1940s with his father Shahaji Bhosale, who then ruled Bengaluru. Shivaji also got married to Saibai Nimbalkar in the city. Old Bengalureans will reminiscence a well-known theatre named after Shivaji unveiled by Sir Mirza Ismail, the then Diwan of Mysore in 1940 on JC Road adorned by an equestrian statue of Shivaji on its pinnacle. Name the prominent traffic circle in an upscale locality in the city beside which another iconic equestrian statue of Shivaji is located.

ART(Y) DELIGHT

Actor Arundhati Nag with artist S G Vasudev and other artists showcasing their artwork at Artpark Bengaluru, held at Ranga Shankara | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

QUICK FIX

GOBI AJWAIN PARATHA

Contributed by Priya Shiva, Chennai

INGREDIENTS

- Whole wheat flour: 2 cups
- Grated cauliflower: 1 cup
- Ajwain/ carom seeds: 1 tbsp
- Garam masala: 1 tsp
- Green chilies: 2 (finely chopped)
- Salt to taste
- Coriander leaves: 2 tbsp (chopped)
- Ghee/Butter: 4 tbsp

METHOD

- Take a bowl and add grated cauliflower, carom seeds, salt, garam masala, green chilies, chopped coriander leaves and mix it well. Keep this aside for filling.
- Add whole wheat flour and salt in another bowl and knead it by adding little by little water to make a smooth dough. Roll it into medium sized balls as shown in above picture and keep it aside.
- Roll out a portion of dough using a rolling pin and add the cauliflower filling into it as shown in the picture.
- Now close it and roll out again using a rolling pin into a round shape.
- Cook this on a tawa/griddle on low heat by adding little ghee on both sides until the paratha turns golden brown.
- Serve it hot with some curd and pickle.

FIT BIT

PARIVRTTA BALASANA VARIATION ELBOW UP
(REVOLVED CHILD POSE VARIATION ELBOW UP)

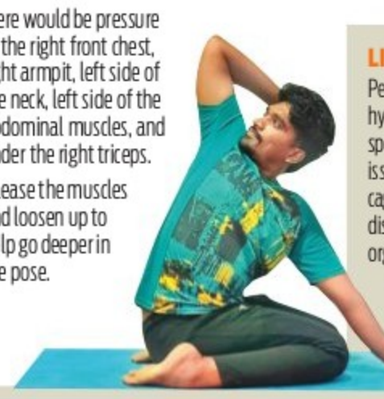
The uniqueness of this variation is the engagement of the upper body, especially the shoulders and the chest, strengthening the upper arm muscles and the upper chest muscles. Here, the arm is bent making the stretch and the twist more challenging.

STEPS

- Sit in Vajrasana and connect to your breath for about 3-4 rounds. Inhale lengthen your spine, and exhale lean forward, bringing the palms in front of you.
- Gently stretch the front torso and look up, coming into Vajrasana Ardha Uttanasana. Stay here for about 2-3 breaths.
- Inhale, raise your right arm, bend and place the palm at the back of your lower head, just above the neck, like half Hasta Sirsa Close Up. Stay here for about 2-3 breaths looking down while exhaling.
- Pressing the right hand behind your head, inhale, twist the head towards the right, exhale, look up for a deep stretch.
- Push the left palm down, engage the right shoulders, armpit, and elbows to open the right side of your chest.
- Keeping the left side of the neck relaxed, gently look up and remain here for about 3-4 breaths, ensuring the chest is open making the shoulder blades meet behind.
- There would be pressure at the right front chest, right armpit, left side of the neck, left side of the abdominal muscles, and under the right triceps.
- Release the muscles and loosen up to help go deeper in the pose.

BENEFITS

- Strengthens shoulder blades, side abdominal muscles, back.
- Creates intra-vertebral space, elongating the spine. Stretches back muscles.
- Keeps the rib cage, neck, shoulders, and elbows active and engaged.
- Aids in making the spine more flexible, loosening vertebrae and toning nerves.
- Aids in curing nervous disorders and keeps the mind peaceful.
- Improves posture and alleviates neck and back pain.
- Keeps the shoulders and hips stable.
- Relieves stiffness in the neck, back, shoulders, psoas muscles.
- Clears the channels for easy and smooth flow of prana (energy), especially when apana vayu is active.
- Brings energy in the nerves, cells, muscles, tissues, etc.
- Relieves disorders and rejuvenates tissues.



LIMITATIONS

People with cardiac problems, vertigo, hypertension, back aches, sciatica, cervical spondylosis, neck and shoulder-related issues, injury to neck-arm-shoulders, rib cage, knees, ankles, or hips, issues like slip disc, surgery in any part of the internal organs, heart or hernia issues, pregnant and menstruating women, avoid this. Women in the later stages of pregnancy, can do the pose on a chair.

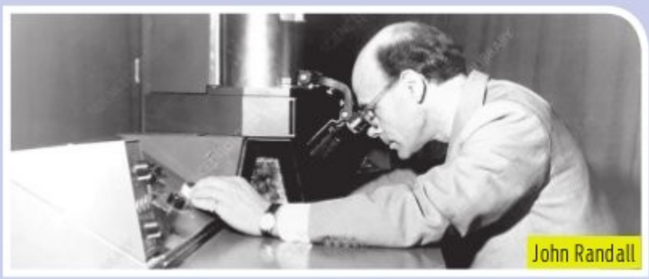
THE ART OF CATALOGUING



John Randall

FLYLEAF
VR FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)

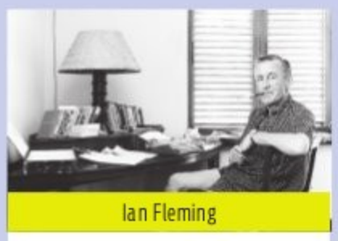
CATALOGUING is the last stage of book madness. After they lay their hands on a rare piece, collectors often lose interest in it. Also, they would have so many books that they would invariably postpone the herculean task of cataloguing them. Eventually they reach a point where they become obliged to catalogue just to know what they have in their collection and start reading some of it!

Cataloguing rare books is a tedious process. You need to list not only the book's title, author, publisher, and physical characteristics but also its provenance, condition, context, unique aspects, reason for buying, and so on. Now there are numerous apps like MyLibrary and Libib which automatically upload many of the details. You should also be aware of the many terms used in the rare book world (you can find them in the American Bookseller Association website: bookweb.org).

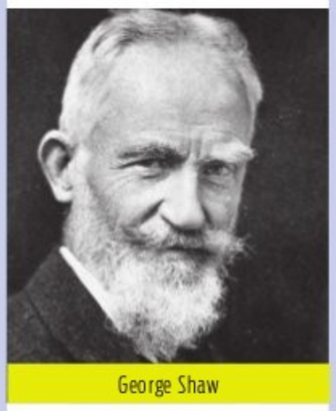
It took me 20 years of collecting before I decided to catalogue 100 of my rarest signed books. I carefully arranged them, took pictures, and made notes about each book, and after detailed documentation, looked for a good designer. Here I was inspired by the catalogue by Graham Shaw and John Randall, From Conversion to Subversion – 250 years of printed books in India. Of course, my catalogue mentions no prices since it is not for commercial use, unlike the catalogues of booksellers and auction houses.

The first published catalogue was an auction catalogue in English from 1676, when the books of a clergyman named Lazarus Seaman were sold at a public auction in England. In the olden days, booksellers would send their latest catalogues by post; these were usually just handwritten or mimeographed sheets of paper. An interested buyer or collector would send a telegram to the bookshop, quoting the catalogue number of the item of their choice. After the telephone was invented, collectors would rush to call the bookshop after spotting something in the catalogue they badly wanted, and whoever got the bookshop on the line first would be the lucky buyer. These days, catalogues are sent by email, although the bigger bookshops and sellers still take pride in issuing expensive hard copies with colour photos and illustrations.

Catalogues often reflect the personality of the bookseller – some are scholarly, some are witty, some are shoddy, and some are too long. Some catalogues have actually set trends, becoming the first catalogue to assemble a certain category of books not previously collected or gathered together in a single catalogue. The most famous example is Printing and the Mind of Man, where the most influential books in the world, books that changed the thinking of human beings over the course of centuries, were exhibited and brought together in their first editions. The exhibition was held in 1963 and the catalogue was published in 1967; it largely contained valuable first editions of great scientific books from the collection of Ian Fleming, who pioneered the collecting of first editions of landmark scientific publications.



Ian Fleming

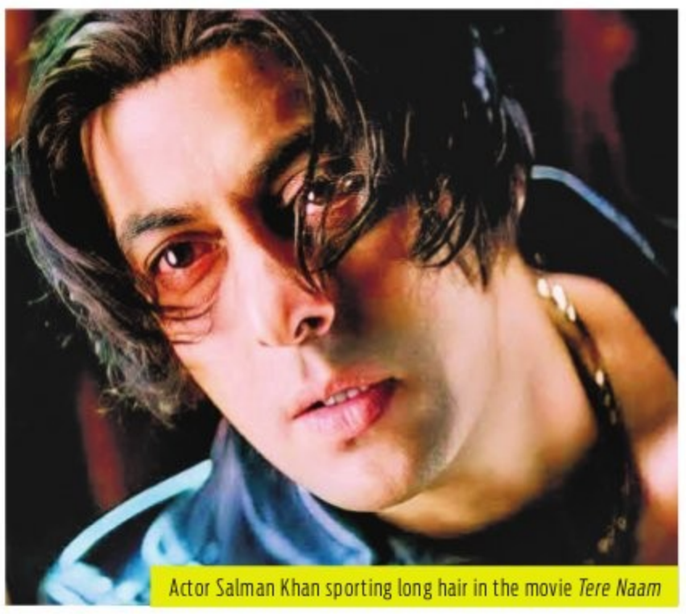


George Shaw

Some catalogues have also been spoof catalogues! The catalogue from The Caveat Bookshop listed fictional books – books that have never existed, with made-up titles, fooling people into believing they were actually printed. Equally fascinating is the Fortsas Hoax where in 19th century France a catalogue was issued of books that were entirely made up for an auction that never took place – much to the annoyance and disappointment of the collectors who had gathered there!

Cataloguing your library is not just about keeping track of your books, but also about the memories and the stories attached to them.

The inscrutable communication of barbers



Actor Salman Khan sporting long hair in the movie Tere Naam

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon

(Writer, comedian)

AFTER sporting shoulder-length hair for years, I finally got a haircut last week. The reactions from people have ranged from shock to concern. Why did I have long hair? It's hard to explain. Footballers, singers and Babas have all had long hair, and my strict schooling made me explode in rebellion. My first stint with long hair was born from the flames of shame and guilt. Salman Khan released a film called Tere Naam, and impressionable teenagers like me adopted his hairdo. Calling it a 'hairstyle' would be too generous – it was a system where you (without being threatened by anybody) parted your hair in the middle. It was done without much care or concern, like a child splitting a Kitkat with a friend.

While it is not easy for a man in society to have long hair, it comes with its own advantages. Parents don't pester you to get married because they are just relieved you are not a psychopath. You seem a tad more intelligent than you are in real life, since your long hair gets you some of the credit of Socrates and Plato. I have sometimes gotten free entry at pubs since I was mistaken for the band performing. And a few compliments, all of which came from men. There is something primitive and neanderthal about long hair that only men seem to appreciate.

The decision to get it all chopped off came with its own fears and tribulations. You can achieve nirvana in life, but getting your barber to comprehend and carry out your requests is another story. I speak five languages, and they are not enough to get my point across. The hairdressing industry has survived for hundreds of years with zero customer satisfaction. Additionally, barbers bombard you with unwanted advice. My barber advised me to quit smoking, oil my hair, and generally be a better human being. I showed him the photos I had downloaded, and limply expressed my desires. He nodded, already making his own mental notes. Finally, I followed Buddha's path of total surrender and let him do his thing. He brought out his tools, and turned my head around. An hour later, I was looking like a contestant from Dance India Dance. I was fully aware that these results were fleeting, and would last till my journey home.

I now look like an illustration from Tinkle comics – short hair and clean-shaved. Has anything changed about my life? Not really. But the kids in my neighbourhood smile at me a little more. Just like the Biblical Samson lost all his powers when he cut his hair, some people remarked that I had lost my gravitas along with my hair. I still keep feeling for my missing hair, and then remember that it was all maya. Whenever someone tells me it was a terrible decision, I think of all the money I am saving on hairbands, scrunchies, shampoos, conditioners, hair gels and hair oils.

For days after, I wondered why I couldn't clearly communicate my wishes to my hairstylist. How my knowledge of five languages, and a Masters in Mass Communication didn't really help my cause. But then, it's a truth of life that some of our finest have already realised. Philosophers have decoded life, but left their heads shabby – having given rid of barbers. Shiva, Buddha and Jesus all found different paths to life; different methods to become the highest form of humans. And yet, they let their hair grow long and avoided the hassle of dealing with barbers. I sacrificed my hair to learn life lessons on desires, fleeting joy, and the need to get over worldly attachments!

(The writer's views are his own)

THE FILM DIRECTED BY CHEMISTRY OF KARIYAPPA-FAME KUMAAR IS SET TO RELEASE THIS WEEK

Catch the KGF Actor Krishnaji Rao one last time in Nano Narayanappa

CE FEATURES

KRISHNAJI Rao, affectionately known as KGF grandfather, may no longer be with us, but his final film is ready to hit the silver screen. Directed and produced by Kumaar, known for his work in Chemistry of Kariyappa, the director's next, Nano Narayanappa is set to release on July 7th.

Krishnaji Rao

The director is thrilled to have fulfilled the late actor's long-standing desire to play the lead role. "During my time as an assistant director, our paths would often cross, and he would always express his wish to be the protagonist in a content-driven film. Finally, after becoming a director and working on two projects, including Crictical Keertaney, I decided to collaborate with this seasoned actor, resulting in Nano Narayanappa," he shares.

This movie draws inspiration from two real-life events. Kumaar explains, "I always aimed to create a film that emphasizes meaningful content over typical youth-centric commercial cinema. By blending comedy and emotion, I have strived to deliver a film with a profound message." Nano Narayanappa is a bilingual film made in both Kannada and Telugu languages.

Kumaar's debut film, Chemistry of Kariappa, shed light on the destructive impact of divorce on lives, while his second film, Critical Keertanegalu explored the repercussions of IPL betting on the masses. With Nano Narayanappa, Kumar unveils a world of scams and fast money-making schemes. Assuring audiences of a perfect blend of comedy and a captivating storyline, he adds.

Krishnaji Rao, popularly known as KGF Tata, portrays the role of a junior artist in this film, while Khader dons a cowboy getup. Reflecting on Krishnaji Rao's unwavering enthusiasm and dedication, Kumaar remarks, "His dream of becoming a hero finally came true in his 80s." The film's ensemble cast also includes Prashant Siddi, Cockroach Sudhi, Girish Shivanna, Akshata Kuki of Bigg Boss fame, Apoorva, and comedy actors Santu, Ananth Padmanabh, and King Mohan.

The film was shot in and around Bangalore, with Sivashankar as the cinematographer. Produced under the Kesari Film Capture banner, Nano Narayanappa features music scored by Akash Parva Sangeet and Deepu, while Siddharth Nayak is the editor. "Don't miss the opportunity to watch KGF Tata, Krishnaji Rao, one last time," signs off the director.

NIKHIL KUMAR TO FACE THE CAMERA FOR A PROJECT WITH LYCA PRODUCTIONS?

Nikhil Kumar

A collaboration on the horizon, the production house and actor teaming up gains momentum after the Initial announcement

A SHARADHAA

NIKHIL Kumar, who had taken a hiatus from cinema to focus on politics, is poised to make a return to his true passion. Our trusted source indicates that the long-anticipated collaboration between Nikhil Kumar and Lyca Productions is indeed in the pipeline, as previously reported.

The announcement of this partnership was initially made by Lyca Productions' owner, Subaskaran himself back in 2019. The project is currently in progress and is speculated to be made in multilingual languages.

Nikhil himself had expressed a strong affinity with Subaskaran and his family, demonstrating their mutual desire to work together on a project. However, the project was put on hold due to Nikhil's temporary departure from the film industry to concentrate on his political career and election commitments.

This upcoming film will mark Nikhil's comeback to acting after his last venture, Seetharama Kalyana. It will also be his first film outside of his home banner, as Lyca Productions is renowned for producing notable movies such as 2.0, Vada Chennai, as well as the highly-anticipated Chandramukhi 2, Laal Salaam, Mission Chapter 1 and Indian 2, currently in different stages of production.

While Nikhil is currently preparing himself to face the camera once again, the production house is also diligently working on their end. This collaboration with Nikhil will serve as their inaugural venture in Sandalwood, with a shared objective of making a significant impact. The official announcement of the project, including the director, script, and other crucial details, will be made once everything is ready to commence shooting.

Dog takes the lead in Naanu Matthu Gunda 2

CE FEATURES

NAANU Matthu Gunda, directed by Raghu Haasan and released in July 2020, starred Shivaraj KR Pete and Samyukta Horanad and it portrayed an inseparable bond between the hero and a dog. The film resonated with the audience and captivated the attention of pet lovers. Building on the success of the first installment, Raghu Haasan is now venturing into a sequel titled Naanu Matthu Gunda 2.

The official announcement of the sequel was made through a poster, which also reveals the plans for a multi-language release in Kannada, Telugu, and Hindi. For the sequel, the director intends to shift the focus onto the dog itself, portraying it as the protagonist. The story will explore the emotional journey of a dog living in society after losing its owner and plans to present it in an entertaining manner.

The shooting of the film is currently underway in full swing in locations around Mysuru, and the production is already halfway through. The sequel is being produced under the banner of Poem Pictures. RP Patnaik has been roped in to compose the music, while Ritwik Muralidhar will handle the background score. The film's dialogue is penned by Rohit, Raman, and Tanvik G, and V Nagendra Prasad is the lyricist.

Dhananjay to play a full-fledged hero in Totapuri 2

CE FEATURES

TOTAPURI CHAPTER-1, directed by Vijayprasad, which was released in 2022, conveyed a message of unity and the concept of a global family, which was well received by the audience. The makers had back then announced the production of Totapuri's second installment, which is currently gearing up for release.

In Totapuri, Jaggesh and Aditi Prabhudeva played the lead roles, while Daali Dhananjay made a special appearance. However, according to makers, Totapuri-2 will feature Dhananjay as a full-fledged hero, and his character, along with Jaggesh, and Suman Ranganath is reported to have significant importance in the film.

Backed by Suresh KA, the makers are leaving no stone unturned in the promotions, and are generating a buzz through the release of teasers, trailers, and songs. They plan to announce the official release date after completing the censor formalities.

With Anoop Seelin as the music director, actors Aditi Prabhudeva, Veena Sundar, and Hemadat, who appeared in the first part of Totapuri, will appear in the sequel as well.

COOKING UP A STORM

Huma Qureshi deconstructs the process of playing Tarla Dalal, lists what other biopics she wants to do and opines on veg biryani

KARTIK BHARDWAJ

HUMA Qureshi has had a long-standing relationship with food. After her debut in Gangs of Wasseypur (2012), the same year she went on to play a part in Luv Shuv Tey Chicken Khurana, a film in which she, along with actor Kunal Kapoor, is on a quest to find the secret ingredient in the titular dish (spoiler: it's marijuana). Last year there was Double XL which showed an obese Huma munching in stress. "I have so many amazing people around me who cook incredibly well," she tells us over a chat. Her father Saleem Qureshi is a restaurateur behind Saleem's, a popular food joint in Delhi serving Mughlai cuisine since 1977.

For her latest, Tarla, she has donned the chef's cap to portray Tarla Dalal, the late celebrity cook and Padma Shri awardee. It's her first biopic. We speak with the actor on finding the perfect glasses for the role, discuss her cooking skills and her thoughts on veg biryani.

Excerpts:

You look uncannily similar to Tarla Dalal in the film's trailer. What caught my attention were the dentures, was it tough to shoot while wearing them?
Oh, they were quite uncomfortable (laughs). The dentures would sometimes fall off while I was speaking or would get stuck to my incisors. But they were necessary because her (Tarla's) teeth were slightly bigger than mine. I needed them in order to get that big, toothy, Tarla smile. I had to go through a transformation in other ways too. There were the saris and the glasses. I remember going through hundreds of pairs to find the glasses Tarla ji would wear and which would also compliment my face.

This is also your first biopic. When you were presented the role, how did you decide to approach it?
I went for it in a very real, granular manner. I wanted people to see my performance and say 'Oh that's not Huma, that's Tarla'. I think when an actor is able to capture that, then doing a biopic becomes fun. The last time I saw somebody catch that essence was Ranveer (Singh) in 83 (he played Kapil Dev in the film, with a similar toothy grin). I guess I want to do more biopics, maybe a sportsperson or a yesteryear actress.

While playing a real-life person, how do you distance yourself from imitating them and ultimately portraying them as a character?
The idea is to not do a caricature but a homage. I didn't want to mimic Tarla ji. The approach was to empathise with her. I thought about where she comes from, what would be the first thing she thinks of in the morning, what would be her first task of the day, things like that. It's easier to do an over-the-top portrayal of this Gujarati woman. Sewing in humour is important too but I wanted people to laugh with the character and not at it.

Tarla Dalal demystified some elite cuisines and brought them to middle-class households. She also 'vegetarianised' many meat dishes. But there has always been this opinion that not every non-veg dish can have a vegetarian alternative. For example, people still debate over the existence of veg biryani. What is your take on that?
Ok, you have put me into a dharm sankat (dilemma). Should I promote the film or speak the truth? (laughs). See, now, biryani can't be without meat. I mean call it pulao if it only has tomato, carrots and peas. There is nothing called veg biryani. But what Tarla ji did in her cooking was quite interesting. She took the chicken out of the Murgh Musallam and added batata (potato). It interested my father, who has been a staunch meat chef since the 1970s, so much that he added this Batata Musallam to his restaurant's (Saleem's) menu.

Still, any cooking skill you caught on while shooting?
I don't want to flex but I can make a perfect, round roti. It's like a god-given talent (laughs).

Is there a favourite cuisine?
I am more like a dal chawal, pyaaz and ghee sort of person. I like going to people's houses and eating home-cooked food. Anything cooked with love, I'll gobble up. Lately, I have been fancying Thai curries a lot.

Last year was a mix bag for you. There was Double XL which didn't perform well but you got acclaim for your performances in Monica, O My Darling and the series Maharani. When it comes to career, what mental space are you in?
It was sad when Double XL didn't do well at the box office, more so because I was attached to the project also as a producer. But I was happy that it received love on OTT along with Monica... I am just having fun, getting to play different characters. So yeah, I guess I am in a good, healthy mind space.
